WORD,
In Hebrew, Dabar; in Greek, Rhema, or Logos It signifies, 1. The eternal Sen of God, the uncreated Wisdom, the second Person of the most holy Trinity agail and consubstantial with the Lather. The Lunngelist John, chap. 1. 1.
more expressily than any other has opened the the Father. In Leangelist John, Chap. 1. 1. more expressly than any other has opened the mystery of this WORD, when he tells us, In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. Chief Leane. God, and the Hord was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. Christ Jesus is called the WORD, (1) In respect of his person, he being the express image of the Father, as we are told, Heb. 1. 3. as our words are of our thoughts. (2) In respect of his office, because the Father made known his will to the church in all ages by him, as we declare our minds one to another by our words, John 3. 34. (3) Because the Messiah was called The Word of God by the Jesus. The Chaldee Peraphrests, the most ancient Jewish writers extant, generally make use of the word MEMRA, which signifies the Word, in those places where Moses puts the name Jehovah. And its generally thought, that under this term the Peraphrests would intimate the Son of God, the second Person of the Trinity. Now their testimony is so much the more considerable, as having lived before Christ, or at the time of Christ, they are irrefragable witnesses of the sentiments of their Targum, or Explication, has always been, and still is, in unversal esteem among the Jesus. And as they acrobe to Memra all the attributes of the Deity, it is concluded from thence, that they believed the divinity of the WORD.

And as they ascribe to Memma all the attributes of the Desity, it is concluded from thence, that they believed the divinity of the WORD.

They say, that it was MEMIKA, or the WORD, which created the world; which appeared to Mores on mount Sina; which gave him the law; which spoke to him face to face; which brought Itrael out of Egypt; which marched before the people; which wrought all those miracles which are recorded in the book of Exodus. It was the same WORD that appeared to Abraham in the plain of Mame; that was existing. It was the same WORD that appeared to Abraham in the plain of Mamre; that was seen of Jacob at Ecth-4, to whom Jacob made his tow, and acknowledged as God, Gen. 28, 20, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, 4c, then shall the Lord be my God.

my God.

1. The word is taken for what is written in the sacred hooks of the Old and New Testament, Luke 21. 28, Blessed are they that hear the word of God and keep it. Jam. 1. 29. Be ye doers of the word. This is the inspired and created word. 111. For the divine law, which teaches and commands good things, and forbid evil. Paal. 129. 101, I have refrained my feet from a war wall was that I which the word. teaches and commands good things, and Joshda evil. Psal. 129, 101, 1 have refrained my feet from every evil way, that I might keep thy word. This is the word of precept or commandment. IV. For every promise of God, touching any good things, whether temporal or eternal. Psal. 119, 25, Quicken thou me according to thy word. So in verses 38. 49, Stablish thy word unto thy servant, who is devoted to thy fear. Remember the word unto thy servant, upon which thou hast caused me to hope. This is the word of promise. V. For prophecy, or vision. Isa. 21, The word that Isaiah saw. VI. Word also signifies the command of God. Psal. 147. 18, He sendeth out his word and melteth them; speaking of this ice. One word thalf disolve them. So in Lake 5. 5, Nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net. It was thus the good Control on and to Christian. vertheless at thy word I will let down the net. It was thus the good Centurium said to Christ, Wherefore neither thought I myself worthy to come unto thee; but say in a word, and my servant shall be healed, Luke 7.7. This is a word of authority, ordering things to be done a word of authority, ordering things or who we effectually.

Ter. 17. 6. neither have I desired the w. day WOLF, WOLF, In Hubrew Teeb; it is a wild creature very well known. The scripture takes notice of their remarkable things of the wolf: That it invest upon rapine: That it is volent, erual, and bloody: That it is voracious and greedy: That it is goes abroad by night to seek its prey: That it is the great enemy of flocks of sheep: That Benjamin shall ravin as a molf: That fulle teachers are wolves in sheep's clothing: That the persecutors of the church, and false pasters, are also ravening wolves. The prophets Jeremisch, Habaktuk, and Zephaniah, speak of the wolves of the evening. It hat he no histered that towards evening wolves are most dangerous, as being then more hungry. Instead of the wolves of the evening, its Sestuagint translate is, The wolves of Arabia; because the Hebrew word Arab signifies both the evening and Arabia. Volves are common in sirabia, but they have nothing peculiar in that country; so that there can be no reason to have recourse to that translations. translation.

As to what is said in Gen. 49. 27, that Benjamin shall ravin as a wolf; this denotes the warlike and fierce disposition and carriage of this tribs. The Chaldes interpreter explain it of the altar of burnt-offerings, which was at Jenualem in the tribe of Benjamin, and upon which they burnt the morning and evening sacrifices to the Lord. Others refer it to that violent stature which was made by the children of Benjamin, of the young women that came to the tabernacle at Saioh, Judg. 21. 22. 23. Others again refer it to Mordecai, or to Saul, or to Paul, who were of the tribe of Benjamin, of the work of the tribe of Benjamin.

But at last send of these wolves themselves became converts, and treus to he lambs: St. Pond. one of the most of these wolves themselves became connerts, and grew to be lambs; St. Pond, one of the most eager persecutors of the church, was afterwards one of its most sealous defenders. The woll, as it is said, it a pierce creature, abiding in forests, an enemy to cattle, ravenous, greedy, crafty, of an expuniste quickness of smell, having an head something square, and his hair inclined to grey. It is commonly said, that what makes him so voracious is, that he has but one very large, short gut, in which his food stays but a little time: But this is a power.

hat but one very large, thort gut, in which his food stays but a little time: But this is a popular mistake: His guts are as long at any other animals, or as a dog's, being himself a himd of wild dog.

In times of great famine, when they can get no grey, wolves are said to destroy one another; for when they meet together, bemoaning themselves one to another, as it were by consent, they run round in a circle, and tha first which, through giddiness, falleth to the ground, is forthwith devoured by the rest. They are frightened at the throwing of stones, at fire, at the sound of bells, and at the singing of men or women. When they set upon sheep, they make choice of a dark, cloudy day, that they may occape the more tajely; and they go against the wind, to prevent the dogs smelling them. It is said also, that the female bringeth forth one the first year, two the second, and so on till the ninth year. If they young me lap as a deg, the rajecteth is; if it mak the water as a sume, or bite as a bear, she morishes it. Many other things are taid of this naimal.

He took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof; they translate the Hebrew thus. He took one (woman) ont of his side, and put flesh in its place. The opinion that generally prevails is, that the man and woman were created on the sixth day, according to Gen. 1. 27, and that what is related chap. 2. 20, 3c. is only a recapitulation, or a supplement, to what had been before mantioned in a concise manner.

Woman was created to be a companion and assistant to man: She was equal to him in that eathering and jurisdiction that God gave them over all other animals: But after the fall, God made her subject to the government of man. Gen. 3. 16, Thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee. Besides the duties prescribed by the law, common to man and women, there were certain regulations peculiar to this sex; at were those legal uncleanasses which they contracted during the states of their ordinary infirmities, Lev. 15. 19, and those that attended their lying-in, Lev. 12.

WITNESS

Is one that gives testimony to any thing. Thus it is said, You are witness, a faithful witness, a false witness, God is witness, &c.
Witness in Greek is Martys, or Martyr, and sigvitness in Greek is Martys, or Martyr, and sig-nifies one that gives testimony to the truth at the expense of his life. Jesus Christ is the faithful witness, Rev. 1.5. He is so called, he because, as the great Prophet of his church, he hath revealed the will of God faithfully, plainly, and fully, so far as is necessary to the salva-tion of men: This Isaiah prophetied of him. Ira. 55. 4, I have given him for a witness to the people, to be a Prophet and Teacher, to de-clare the connect and will of God concerning the duty and sulvation of men, to bear witness unto the truth, as Christ himself affirms before Pou-tius Pilate, John 18, 37. Wherefore Paul saith, 1 Tim. 6, 13, that Christ witnessed a good confession before Pontius Pilate. He is called the faithful witness, not only because he good contession before Pontius Pilate. He is called the faithful winners, not only because he revealed all truth, and bare record to the truth before Pilate, but also because he scaled it with his blood; he died, and was a marty of the truth, which proves him to be a faithful, constant winners. constant witness, constant witness.

The law appoints, that two, or three witnesses should be sufficient in matters of indicature; but one witness only was not sufficient, Deut. 17. 6. When any one was condemned to die the witnesses were the first that began the esecution. They threw the first stone, for example, if the party was to be stoned, Deut. 17. 7. The law condemned a false witness to undergo the same punishment that he would have subjected his neighbour to, Deut. 19. 16, 17, 18, 19. When God is said to be a witness to sin, as in Jer. 29, 23, it signifies, that he not only knows it, but he will also punish it. He is both judge and witness, he does not stay for any one to accuse the wicked to him, he has no need of the lestimony or accusation of men, to know oven juage and witness, he aos not it as for any for any one to accuse the wiched to him, he has no need of the testimony or accusation of men, to know the demerits of the guilty. He accuses them, himself, he pensishes them, he condemns them he knows all their transgressions, by his visidom, his justice, his infinite penetration.

'a Mal. 3. 5. God threatens perjured persons, adulterers, and other wicked men, with rem geance, I will be a swift witness against false swearers, &c. This is spoken of Christ the Messiah, to whom the Father hath committed all judgment, John 5. 22. The prophets and Old Testament believers, by their doing and suffering for God, have given testimony to the truth of our holy religion. The apostle calls them a cloud of witnesses, lieb. 12. 1. The apostles also are still more witnesses, of the coming, the mission, the doctrine, the resurse tion of Christ. 1 Cor. 15. 14, 15. If Christ be not risen, then we are found false witnesses of G.d. And St. Peter says We are witnesses

Greek, Sophia; in Hebrew Chachemah. It is put, 1. For that prudence and discretion, which enables men to perceive what is fit to be done, according to the circumstances of time, place, persons, manners, and end of doing. Eccl. 2. 13, 14. I saw that wisdom excelleth folly, for the wise man's cyes are in his bead. "The wise man's cyes are in his bead. "The wise man has the use of his eyes and reason, he sees his way, and orders all his affairs with discretion; he foresees, and so avoids many denger and mischiefs." Knowledge directs a man what is to be done, if he foresees, and so avoids many denger and mischiefs." Knowledge directs a man what is to be done, and what is not to be done; with wisdom directs him how to do things duly, conveniently, and fitly. It was this sort of wisdom that Solomon intreated of God with so much earnestness, and which God granted him with great liberality, 1 Kings 3. 9, 12, 28.

Wisdom is taken for quickness of insentions, and destreating in the ascention of sovered work, which require not so much strength of body, as industries.

and desterity in the execution of severes works, which require not so much strength of body, as industry and labour of the mind. Wisdom is the gift of God, who told Moses, that he had filled with wisdom, and understanding, and knowledge, Besalect and Abolish, to invent and Refform exercise to the first three completion, the perform several sorts of work for completing the tabersacle, Exod. 31. 2, 3.

11. Wisdom is used for craft, comming, and stressgrm, and that whether good or evil. Exod. 1. 10. Come on, said Pharaoh, let us deal wisely with the Israelites: "Let us fall deal wisely with the Israelites; "Let us fall upon some stratagem, whereby we may exhaust both their wealth and their strength." It is observed of Jonadab, the friend of Amson, and nephew of David, that he was very wise, that is, very subtile and crafty, 2 Sam. 13. 3. And is, 100 5. 13. it is said, that God taketh the wise in their own craftiness.

in Job 5. 13. is is said, that God taketh the wise in their own craftiness.

Wisdom is taken for doctrines, learning, and experience. Job 12. 12, With the ancient is wisdom. And in Acts 7. 22. it is raid of Muses, that he was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians; "He was instructed in the "humledge of those arts and sciences, for "which, in those times, the Egyptians were "famous."

It is taken for true piety, or the fear of God, which is spiritual wisdom. Psel, 90. 12, So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. "It we may "devote ourselves to the study and practice of true piety." And in Job 28, 28, The fear of the Lord, that is wisdom.

I. Wisdom is put for Jerus Christ, the eternal, essential Wisdom, that God established the hearens, and founded the earth. Prov. 3. 19, It was this Wisdom that God established the hearens, and founded the earth. Prov. 3. 19, It was this Wisdom that the Lord possessed from everlasting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was, Prov. 8. 29, 23. He was est up, he was anointed from everlasting, before all twoilds, to be the person by whom the Father revolved to do all his works, first to create, and then to uphale, govern, end judge, and afterwards to redeem and save the worle; all which works are in scripture particularly actribed to the Son of God. Solomon, in Prov. 8, discourbace of the Son of God. Solomon, in Prov. 8, discour-wards to redeem and save the world; all which works are in scripture particularly ascribed to the Son of God. Solomon, in Prov. B. discourses largely one profoundly of this Wisdom. The Plalmits says. Psal. 37. 30, The mouth of the righteons speaketh wisdom. When the discourse of other men are either wicked or vain, his are pious and profitable, they flow from, and are to many swidences of wisdom, and have a 677

WIS

In Endency to make others spiritually wise. In Job 28. 12. having mentioned several hidden thing; which man's wisdom has found out, Job asks this question, But where shall wisdom be found? He means that sublime and eminend wisdom, which consists in the seast knowledge of all God's counsels and way, and of the seed wisdom, which consists in the seast knowledge of all God's counsels and way, and of the seed wisdom, which consists in the seast knowledge of the manners and reasons of his governing the world, and dealing with good and bad men; the first of God alone. Job says to his three friends, chap. 12. 2. No doubt but ye are the people, and wisdom shall die with you. This Exa 7. 25. thou Exra, after the w. of thy God at an ironical expression; that is to say, "Yen Job 4. 21. they die, even without w." "we have engrossed all the reason of mankind;" and you think that all the wisdom and knowledge of divine things, which is in the world, "lives in you, and will die and be utterly lost thou counselled him that hat no w.?"

"It is a first the windom and knowledge of divine things, which is in the world, in the world, in the world, when the windom and knowledge of divine things, which is in the world, in the world, in the world, in the world, when the windom and knowledge of divine things, which is in the world, in the world, in the world, in which would be a window the world of the wore on troucal expression; that is to say, "You are the only people for eminency of windom; you have engrossed all the reason of mankind; and you think that all the windom and knowledge of divine things, which is in the world, lives in you, and will die and be utterly lost when you die."

Vision is put for natural instinct and sagacity.

Job 39, 17, The estrich is hardened against her young ones, because God hath deprived her of Wisdom is Visdom is put for natural instinct and segacity. Job 39. 17. The astrich is hardened against ryoning ones, because God hath deprived her of wisdom: "Because God hath not implanted in "her that natural instinct, care, and affection, "which he heth put into other birds and beasts, "towards their young." Wisdom is likewise put for the doctrine of the gospel. 1 Cor. 2. 6, 7. Howbeit we speak usidom among them that are perfect; yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world, that come to nought: that is, "The mbject-matter of my "preaching is the most wise contrivance and "counsel of God, concerning the salvation of "man by Christ crucified, and so it will be "maned to be, though not by learned philosomerate of God, concerning the salvation of sunderstanding in the knowledge of the gospel: "But this is not the wisdom of the world, "which teaches how to manage our temporal affairs, only in order to a comfortable life "here; neither is it the maxims of state-power licy, which statemen count the only wisdom, "who yet by all their plots and policies cannot secure themselves from ruin: But we speak licy, which statesmen count the only wisdom, who yet by all their plots and policies cannot secure themselves from rain; But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even hidden wisdom; it is such as no creature could make any discovery of, and was hidden formerly under help mysteries and Jewish types; it was but Jarky spoken of by the prophets, and altogether waknown to the Gentiles." Phrist Jesus " and altogether unknown to the Genetiles."

Thirst Jesus is said to be made of God unto us usidom, 1 Cor. 1.30. "He reveals the will
" and knowledge of God to us, and makes us
" wise unto salvation." In Mat. 11.19, our Saviner speaking of the bad treatment that John the Baptist and himself mes with from the Jews says, But Wisdom is justified of her children.
Some take the meaning to he the: "I who can ays, But Wisdom is justified of her children. ome take the meaning to be this; "I who am the wisdom of God, am justified by who am the wisdom of God, am justified by you, who truly believe on me: You know I am no glutton, no wine-bibber, no friend of publicans, and sinners." Others thus, "Religion, in all the branches and duties thereof, enjoined oy God, or the various methods that God uses to reclaim sinners, is owned and acknowledged to be full of wisdom, holiness, and equity, and also windicated from the cavils and unjust imputatious of all ungodly persons, by those who have devoted themselves to the study and practice of religion."

"just imputations of all ungodly persons, by those who have devoted themselves to the study and gractice of religion."

34. James speaks of the wisdom that is from above, which comes from God, and stackes us to be humble and holy in all our conversation, James 3. 17. It is known and espressed by several properties: It is pure, it makes men coreful to uvoid any defilement by sin and error, and to adhere both to truth and holiness. It is penceable, it disposes men to peace, both as the making and keeping it, so far as it consistent with purity, and may be done without sin. It is gentle, it disposes men to bear with the infirmities of others, to forgive injuries, to interpret all things for the best, to recede from their own right, for peace take. It is easy to be intreated, it makes men yield to the persusions of the word, to good crousel, good reason, It is full of mercy, it makes us pity others that are afflicted, or that offend. It is full of good fruits, of beneficence, liberality, and all other offices of humanity, which proceed from mercy. It is without partiality, it does not make a difference between person and person, upon carnal accounts. It is also without hypocrisy, or counterfeiting, as they do that studge others, being guilty of the same things themselces; it is unfeigned and sincere. Wisdom is put for the holy scriptures, Luke 11. 49.

Several of the amcients were of opinion, that wine was not in use before the deluge, and that Neah was the first who used this lignor. If wine, say they, had been known before the steed, Abel would not have failed to bring an offering of it to the Lord, and Noah would have been upon his guard, so as not to have drank of it to es by others, that it is much more probable that the first men were not ignorant of the use of wine, which is a liquor to generally useful and agreeable, that it could scereely be unknown even to Adam himself. And as to Noah, they say, that though he knew the intesticating quality of wine, yet he might be deceived in the strength of it, and think, that the quantity of

There were many excellent vineyards in Palestine; and to thus how great a number there thentle be of these in the single inheritance of the tribe of Judah, the patriarch Jacob says of his son Judah, lie washed his garments in wine, and his clothes in the blood of grapes, Gen. 49, 11. The use of wine was forbidden to the priests during all the time they were in the tabernacle, and employed in the service of the alter, Lev. 10. 9. Drankenness is so edious a sin in itself, especially in a minister, and most of all in the stime of his administry sion of sucred things, that the use of wine was strictly forbidden on those occasions. This liquor was also forbidden to the Nasariies, Num. 6. 3.

liquor was also forbidden to the Naueries, Num. 6. 3.

In Gen. 27. 20, 37. Corn and wine denote all sorts of temporal good things, which were more frequently promised and bestored under the Old Testament, but were topes of spiritual blessings. In the style of the sacred penmen, the wine, or the cup, often represents the anger of God. Peal. 60. 3. Thou hast made us to drink the wine of astonishment. And in Jec. 25. 15, Take the wine-cup of this fury at my hand, and cause all the nations to whom I send thee to drink it. They were used to administer wine, by way of medicine, to such as were in trouble and sorrow. Prov. 33. 6, Give strong drink to him that is ready to perish, and wine to those that be of beavy hearts. The Rabbins say, that they used to give wine and strong liquors to those that were condemned to die, at their execution, to stupify them, and take off some part of the fear and sense of their peans. There were certain charitable women at Jerusalem, as they tell us, who used to mis certain drugs with wine, to make it strenger, and more capable of extinguishing the sense of pain. Some think it was such a kind of misture that was offset to our Saviour to drink, before he was fastened to the cross. Mark 15. 23, And they gave him to drink wine mingled with myrrh, but he received it not.

The wine of Helbon. Exchiel speaks of this

The wine of Helbon. he wine of Helbon. Excitel speaks of this wine that was sold at the fairs of Tyre, Ezek. 27. 18. Some say that this wine was sell known to the ancients; they called it Chalinonium vinum. It was made at Damascus, and the Persians had planted vineyards there, on purpose, as Posicianius affram. Utter, make it a common name, sweet or fat wine, for Helbon comes from a word that signifies fat. Ezekiel speaks of this fat, he wins of Lebanon. Hoses speaks of this wine, Hos. 14. 7. The scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon. The wines of those sides of mount Lebanon that had a good esposition to the sun, were heretofore much estemed. But some think, that the Hebrew test, wine of Lebanon, may signify a racet-cented wine; wine in which perfumes are mised, or other drugs, to make it more palatable, and of a better

Is that faculty of the soul whereby we freely choose or refuse things. It is of the varue of the will, to will freely whatsoerer it wills, for the will cannot be compelled: but it is unable, till it be changed by grace, to more itself toward God, and to will eny good thing pleasing to him.

Psal. 110. 3. Simply to will any thing, is of nature; but to will what is good, is of grace; our will being free in respect of sinful acts, but bound in respect of good works till it be made free by Christ. John B. 36, If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed. And in John 15. 5, Without me ye can do nothing. And Phil. 2. 13, It is God who worketh in you, both to will and to do of his good pleasure. And St. Austin surf, Voluntas libera, quia libertas; libera ad pecanism. God who worketh in you, pout to write and of his good pleasure. And St. Austin says, Mat. 6. 10, thy w. be done in earth, Lears 11. 2. 26. 42. WILDERNESS,

See Ass, Brast, Brasts.

WILDERNESS,
Or Desert, in Hebrew, Middar. The Hebrews give this name to all places that are not cultivated, but which are chiefly destined to the feeding of cattle, and on which trees grow wild. So when wilderness is mentioned in scripture, we are not always to imagine it to be a place forsakm, abandoned, wid of cities or inhabitants; as this word often represents the soil near a city or village which was oppointed for pasture, and where the plough never came. Thus, in Scripture, there are few cities which had not their wilderness, that is, uncultivated places for woods and pastures.

The deserts of Arabia, wherein the Israelites sojourned forty years after their departure out of Egypt, is called wilderness, by sony of aminence, Neh. 9. 19, 21. Psal. 78. 40, 52. 107. 4. Jer. 2. 2.

The milderness of Shur lies towards the mointerness of the Redeen.

mence, Neh. 9. 19, 21. Psal. 78. 40, 52. 107.
4. Jer. 2. 2.
5. Jegar being driven from Abraham's house, wendered in this wilderness, Gen. 16. 7. The Israelites, after their march through the Red-sea, went into the wilderness of Shur, Erod. 15. 22. It is thought there was a city of this name anciently in these perts. The wilderness of Paran was in Arabia Petrea in the neighbourhood of the city of Paran. Ishmeel, the son of Abraham, duelt in the borders of this wilderness, Gen. 21. 21. The Israelites having decamped from Sinai, retired into the wilderness of Paran, Num. 10. 12. It was from hence that Moses sent out spies, to fring intelligence concerning the land of promise, Num. 13. 3. Moses seems to place mount Sinai in the country of Paran, when he says, that the Lord appeared to the Israelites upon the mount of Paran, Deut. 33. 2. And Islaelites the same thing, Ilab 3. 3, The Holy One came from mount Paran.

The desert of Sin. There are two deserts of this

3. 3, The Holy One came from mount Paran.
The desert of Sin. There are two deserts of this name in scripture, the first is written purely Sin, with a Samech, and lies between Flim and mounts Sinai, Exod. 16. 1. The second is written Zin, or Tain with a Trade: it is rear Kadeshbarnea, where Miriam the sister of Moses died, Num. 20. 1.
The desert of Sinai, is that which lies about, and is adjacent to, mount Sinai. The people oricamped these a long time, and received the greatest part of those laws which are written in the books of Moses, Exod. 19. 2.
It is said in Isa. 41. 18, I will make the wilderness a pool of water; that is, "these people that are like a dry and barren wilderness, I will abundantly water them with my bleasing, and make them fruitful and beautiful." God asks his speople in Ier. 2. 31. Ilave I been a barren wilderness to Israel t Have not I accommodated you with all necessaries as all

Is the greatest of fishes that we know of. Profans authors have given extravagant accounts of the bigness of this creature; some say, that whales have been seen of six kundred feet long, and three hundred and sixty feet thick. Othere write, that there have been seen some of eight hundred feet long. Modern writers say, that in America some whales measure ninety or an hundred feet from head to tail: and it is owned, that the whales in the north sees are not larger than area jest from head to tail: and it is owned, that the whales in the north seas are yet larger than those that are found upon the coast of Guinea, or in the Mediterranean.

or in the Mediterranean.

In scripture there is mention made of the whale,
But the Hebrew word Thannim is generally used for all large fishes, whether of rivers or of the sea. The Leviathan mentioned in 104
1. 1. is thought by a great many interpreters to be the whale, though others think it is the y ine sea. Ine Leviathan mentioned in Job 24.1. is thought by a great many interpreters to be the whale, though others think it is the crocodile.

The whale brings forth her young ones alive, as other perfect animals: But it brings but one, the thing perfect animals: But it brings but one, with grant care. Whales have generally no teeth, but only beards or whisters on the throat, with grant care. Whales have generally no teeth, but only beards or whisters on the throat, of about a span in breadth, and fifteen feet long, which end in fringes, like hogs' bristles at the end, which at top are set in the palate, and remained in order. Thus beards scree to extend or contract the cheeks of this creature. Whale a love is they suck from the sea; and by some little fishes, as the sea-flea, the sea-pider, anchovies, sea-week, as the sea-flea, the sea-pider, anchovies, sea-week, as I has no udder, but it has implies and teats, which contain milk in such abundance, that sometimes there have been fromal thrity or first code, and the sum of the wall and the sum of the sum of the sum of the world and the sum of the sum

The Habreus had three sorts of weeks. (1) Weeks of days, which were reckoned from one sabbath to another. (2) Weeks of years, which were reckoned from one sabbatical year to another, and which consisted of seven years.
(3) Weeks of seven times seven years, or of forty nine years, which are reckoned from one jubilee to another.

ory nine years, which are reckoned from one jubilee to another. The seventy weeks, in Dan. 9. 24. It is agreed that these are weeks of years, and not of days. They consist of seven lunar or Hebrew years; by which reckoning the seventy weeks make up four hundred end ninety years. This way of reckoning years be days is not unusual in the sacred writings, See Lev. 25. 8. Evek. 4. 4. 5. Rev. 12. 6. 13. 5. There are many different hypotheses concerning the beginning and end of Daniel's seventy weeks, even among Christian writers, who believe this prophecy marks out the time of the birth and death of our Saviour Jesus Christ. Some begin them from the first year of Darius the Mede, which is the epocha of Daniel's prophecy, and make them to determine at the profanation of the temple, which happened under the persecution of Antiochus Epiphanes. Others begin them from the first year of Cyrus at Babylon, and place the end of them at the destruction of the temple by the Romaus. Others fix the beginning at the first year of Parius the Mede, in which this revelation was made to Daniel; and put the end at the birth of Jesus Christ. Julius Africanus places the first year of the seventy weeks at the twentieth year of the seventy of the seventy for the seventy of or decise to Nehmiah, to rebuild the usalls of Jerusalem. From thence to the last week, in which the Messiah was put to death, are reck-oned seventy weeks or four hundred and ninety lumar years. This hypothesis or system seems to be the most rational of any that have been pro-posed by the ancients, and is adhered to, some small particulars escepted, by the the greatest part of interpreters and chronologers.

part of interpreters and chronologers. he greatest difference among chronologers in the calculation of these years, does not exceed nine or ten years. Petavius, who has treated of this matter in his twelfth book De Doctrina temporum, reconciles all these differences by shewing that the words of the prophecy of Dansel, From the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem, ought to se understood of the complete execution of the order to rebuild Jerusalem, which was not performed but by Nahemiah. He shews also, that the twentieth year of Artacress, manufand Neb. 2.1. sught to be o go the way of all the earth, is put to signify dying and the grave, Josh. 23. 14. A hard way, is put to represent the way of sinners, a way of impiety. Judg. 2. 19. They ceased not from their stubborn way; in Hobrew, hard way. It is so called to signify, that although it seemed at first very coft, and eary, and pleasant, yet they would ce tainly find that it was hard and difficult, and troublesseme to them, as an hard way is to the traveller. The course that leadesh to destruction is called a broad way, that is obvious to all, and in which many walk; on the contrary, that course of high which will bring a mon to heaven, is named strait, narrow, difficult to find and so walk in: A course of haliness is unpleasing to flesh and appetites; it is a narrow way, wherein men will meet with many crosses and temptations, Mat. 7. 13. 14. 7, 13, 14, esus Christ is called the way, John 14. 6. be-cause it is by him alone that believers obtain lerus Christ is called the way, John 14. 6. beccesse it is by him alone that believers obtain eternal life, and an entrance into heaven. He is the way to heaven, by the doctrine which he surchased this heavenly inheritence for the elect; by his health, by which he purchased this heavenly inheritence for the elect; by his holy life and convertation, betting us an example, that we should follow his steps; and by the influence of his Spirit, whereby believers are sanctified, and made meet to be made partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light. The Pselmitz says, Thou will shew me the path of life, Psel. 16. 11. that is, "thou will raise my body from death to life, and conduct me to the place and state of everlasting happiness." WATER, Or waters, in scripture, is put, (1) For the element of water, Gen. 1. 10. (2) For troubles and afflictions. Paal. 69. 1, Save me, O God, for the waters are come in unto my soul.

Often in the Pealms and elsewhere it is used in this sense: Illenes it the phrase in Mat. 20. 22. of being baptized with Christ's baptism; that is, dipped and prunged in afflictions, as he was: (3) In the language of the prophets, waters often denote a great multirade of people.
Isa. 8. 7, The Lord bringeth upon them the waters of the river; that is, the Assyrian army. And in Rev. 17. 15, The meters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.
(4) It is put for children or posterity. Num.
24. 7, He shall pour the water out of his buckets. And in 18a. 48. 1, Which are come forth out of the maters of Judah. (5) For the cleuds. Paal. 104. 3, Who layeth the beams of his chambers in the maters. "Who jenuded," as it were, the heavens spon the clouds."
(6) Waters sometimes stand for tears. Jer. 9.
1, O that my bead were maters, and mine eyes a fountain of tears. (7) For the dectrines of the geopel, Deat. 32. 2. 1 Cor. 3. 6. (8) For the extinances of the goopel, where the graces and comforts of the Iloly Spirit are dispensed. Isa. 55. 1, Ho, every one that thirsteth, come to the waters. Or by waters here may be onderstood the graces and comforts of the Spirit themselves, which are frequently compared to watern, as in Isa. 12. 3, 135. 6, 7. John 7. 37, 38. (9) All kinds of drink. Exod. 23. 25. (10) Unlawing pleasures, Frov. 9, 17.
As in scripture, bread is put for all sorts of food, or total sour inherent, so water is used for all sorts of drink. The Meabiets and Ammenities with bread and water, that is, with proper refreshments, Deut. 23. 4. Nobal sayes, in an intersection.

(10) Unlawful pleasures, Prov. 9, 17.
As in sortprires, bread is put for all sorts of food, or solid nourishment, so water is used for all sorts of drink. The Modelies and Ammonites are expresseded for not meeting the Israelists zith bread and water, that is, with proper refreshments, Deut. 23. 4. Nabel seys, in an insuliting menner to Devid's messengers, Shall I then take my bread and my water, and my flesh that I have killed for my abearers, and give it unto men whom I know not whence they be? I Sem. 25. 11. Stolen waters densee unlawful pleasures with strange women, Prov. 9, 17. The Israelists are upbraided for having fertaken the fountain of living waters, and hewing out broken cisterns; that is, for having quitted the worthip of God, for the worthip of idols and false gods, Jev. 2, 13. The Habrens called wrine, the waters of the feet, that they may drink their own piss; in Habren, the mater of their feet, 2 Kinga 18. 27.
The waters of Meribah, so called because of the quarrelling, the contention, and marmoring, of the Israelists against Muses and against God. Moses tells us, that when the Israelists came to Kadash, and there happened to be in want of water, they raised a sedition against him and his brother daron; this is recorded in Num. 20. 1, 2, 3, &c. It was on this occasion that Moses committed that sin, with which God was so distributed wat these marmors of the people, and expressed own fairtunt by his words. Its thewed some deabt in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely and in the promises of the Lord. God had absolutely promised him, that he should bring water out of the rock: Mores made some excepts to be-lieve it; Must we fetch you mater out of this rock? He struck the rock twice: and God had rock: He struck the rock twice: and God had bid him only speak to it. He was afraid, that upon this occasion, God being provoked with his people, should refuse to fulfil the promises he had mede. Moses and Auron did not subcitly the Lord, they did not pay that honour that was the to him, by a strict, penetual, and faithful obedience to his words. They did not subcitly him before the people: They gave the people occasion to conceive too low an idea of the moser and conducts of God. then did me invented.

WASH.

The Orientels were used to wash the feet of strangers who came off a journey, because they commonly walked with their legs naked, and their feet only defended with their legs naked, and their feet only defended with a sandal. Thus Abraham washed the feet of the three angels, Gen.

18.4. The feet of Elester, Abraham's stewerd, and those that accompanied him, were washed, when they arrived at the house of Laban, Gen.

24. 32. And likewise those of Joseph's brethren, their feet were washed, when they came into Egypt, Grn. 43. 24. This office was commonly performed by servants and elaves.

Our Lord Jesus, to give his Apostles on example of humility washed their feet. John 13. 5, Alter that, he powed water into a bason, and began to wash the disciples' feet. This washing, as it was a servile employment, denoted our Seviour's humility, which Christians ought to mintate him in; and as it was such a particular act, it denoted his washing away their riss by his blood, as he himself told Peter in verse 8. If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me. Washing, in seripture, is frequently taken in this sense, as in Paal. 51, 2,7, Wash me thoroughly from mine interior. verse 8. If I west thee not, thou hast no part Lake 7.44. she hash w. my feet with er tears with me. Washing, in scripture, is frequently taken in this sense, as in Paal. 51, 2,7, Wash John 9.7. he went and w. and came seeing, 11, 15. me thoroughly from mine injusity; that is, 13, 10, is w. needeth not save to wash his feet at Cleanse me from the guilt and deplement of many by the grace, and by the virtue of the Acts 9, 37. When the Hebrews drew out their armies and the time of battle was at hand, the high-priest presented himself at the head of the army, and spiele at the people in this manner: Hear, O Israel, and be not in fear of your enemies; for the Lord your God fights for you. After which the officers proclaimed aloud at the head of the servey trop: Is there any one here that hat built a new house, and has not yet inhabited it? let him depart and return to his house, for fear that another should come and live in it first, &c. as in Deut. 20. 2, 3, 4, &c. The Hebrews were formerly a very warlike nation. The books that inform us of their warn, are neither fattering authors, nor ignorant, but were authors inspired by the Spirit of truth and wisdom. Their warriers were none of those fabulous herees, or professed conqueror, out nere assume their warriers were none of those fabulous heroes, or professed conquerors, whose busines; it was to ravege cities and propinces, and to reduce foreign natures whi is dominion, merely for the sake of governing in or for purchasing a name. They were com-wing and ballent Generals, raised up it to fight the battles of the Lord, and a co-minate his memies. These were such as low Caleb, Gideon, Jephthah, Samson, Durt, a louish when yours along are medical Josiah, whose names alone are a sufferior comium Josish, whose sames alone are a sufficient comium. Their wars were not undertaken upon stiple a siens, nor performed with a small annipopole. Under Joshua, the affair was if we importance, them to make himself manurlarge contry, which God had given "Irsalites; to rost out several powerful num which God had devoted to destruction, an vindicate an offended Deity, and human usuabich had been debased by a wicked as supp people, who had filled up the meanwhich insignities. Under the Judges, the mawat to assert the liberty of the Levalita, thaking off the yoke of powerful king, a kept them in rubjection. Under Small cash vid, the same motives prevailed to underwar; and to these were added a further mithe making a conquest of such provinces where motiving a conquest of such provinces where interction merely to reduce the power of Philistines, the Ammonites, the Mosbies, Idumeans, the Arabians, the Syriems, and extered princes that were in possession of incontries.

pidity and constancy, did they sustain the viagainst the Romans, who were the measure the world?

But how great armies did they bring varifield? In the beginning, under Moste a Joshua, they were all soldiers, and men best arms. They came out of Egypt so the used of six handred thousand fighting men. If Joshua entered into the land of Coman, fought sometimes with his whole army, accordas exigencies required. God would often p the victory to very small armies, to saymeliss omnipotence, and to hamble the pride of me
For example, under Gideon, where God ada

Ie a promise made to God, of doing some good thing kereafter. The use of vows is observable in many places of scripture. When Jacob kent into Mesopotamia he vowed to God the tenth of his estate, and promised to offer it at Bethel to the honour and service of God, Gen. 28, 20, to the honour and service of God, Gen. 28, 20, 22. There are several laws for the regulation and due escention of vows. A man might devote himself, or his children, to the Lord. Samual was vowed and consterated to the service of the Lord, and was offered to him, to serve in the tabernacle, 1 Sam. 1. 23, 28. If a men, or woman womed themselves, or their children to the Lord, they were obliged to adhere strictly a his service according to the conditions of the the Lord, they were obliged to adhere strictly to his service, according to the conditions of the vow; if not, they were to be redeemed. The price for redeeming persons of such and such arm age is particularly limited, Lev. 27. 2, 3, &c. Only if the person was poor, and could not proout the sum limited, the priest imposed a ranson upon him according to his abilisies.

any one had vowed an animal that was clear he had not the liberty of redeeming it, or of archanging it, but was obliged to racrifice it to the priest, according to the Lord, or give it to the priest, according to the manner of his vow. If it was an wato the manner of his vow. If it was en un-clean animal, and such as was not allowed to be sacrificed, the priest made valuation of it; and if the proprietor would redeem it, he added a fifth part to the value, by way of forfeit. They did the same in proportion, when the thing bowed was a house or a field. See Lev. 27. 9, 10, &c. They could not devote the first-lings of beatt, because of their own nature they belonged to the Lord, Lev. 27. 20. Whet-towers was sulemnised desired to the Lord could tower was solemning detoted to the Lord could not be redeemed, of whatever nature or quality it was, Lev. 27. 28. Concerning the vows of the Nazarites, See Nazarites.

the Naratices, See Naratita.

The vows and promises of children were void, except they were ratified, either by the expects, or tacis content of their parents. And it was the same with the vows of married momen; they were of no validity, except they were confirmed by the express, or tacis content of their haubends, Num. 30. 1, 2, 3, &c. lader the New Testement, a vow is either general to all Christians, as these which is made at our beptism; or particular and special, as when we had ourselves to a greater endeapour, to leave some sim, or perform some duty. A vow, as one observes, must be made deliberately and deposely, for a sudden passion makes not a vow; leave some sim, or perform some duty. A vow, as one observes, must be made deliberately and devoutly, for a sudden passion makes not a vow; and we ought to vow nothing but what is in our power to perform. Some vows are of exit things to an avil end; such vows ought neither to be made nor key; of this kind was the vow or curse which the Jews bound themselves under, or curse which the Jew bound themselves under, who conspired to murder Paul, Acts 23, 12, Some vows are of good things in an and marner, such may be made, and ought to be kept in respect of the matter, but not in respect of the end; thus, we may vow to give alms, but not to be seen of men. Other vows are of cond this. not to be seen of men. Other vows are of good things in a good manner: and such may be made, and ought to be performed. St. Paul made a vow either of Nazaritethip, or by may of gratitude for some particular mercy, Acts 18. 18. But commentators are not agreed whether this be spoken of Paul, or of Aquila, who is mentioned in the same verse. he performence of solemn vows is strictly enjoined us in scripture. Eccl. 5. 4. Eccl. 5. 4, When thou youvest a row unto Good, defer not to pay it: Perform it while the sense of thy obligation is fresh and strong upon thee, lest either thou seem to repent of thy promitte, or lest delays end in denials and resolutions of non-performere. Solomon adds, For the Lord hath no pleasure in fools; that is, in hypocritical and perfidious persons, who, when they are in distress, make liberal vows, and when the denger is past, neglect and break them, and so discover the highest folly, in thinking to mock and decire the All-sesing and Almighty God. Moses speaks almost in the same words. Deat. 23, 21, When thou shalt row a row unto the Lord thy God, thou shalt not slack to pay it; for the Lord will surely require it of thee. The Paslmiss in several places declares that he would pay his pows to the Lord, Pasl. 22, 25 166, 13.

The Hebres word Almah, signifies a person concealed; for young unmarried woman lived in retired apartments, where the men did not use to go. And when young women were obliged to go out, they were always vailed, and never appeared wonevered, but before their mearest seleciones. When Amnon, the son of Devid, had conceived a violent passion for his sister Tamer, he could not get private converse with her, because she was a virgin, and kept up very close.
2 Sam. 13. 2, For ahe was a virgin, and thought it hard for him to do any thing to her. And in the book of Maccabes, it is said, that when Heliodorus came to Jerusalem, to take away the treasures of the temple, the most recluse virgins came out of their retirements; some appeared in the streets, some at their windows, and ethers upon the walls, 2 Macc. 3. 19. And it is well known that young women in the east do not appear in public, but are shut up in their houses and in their mother's apartments. The Hebrew word Almah, signifies a per-

Virgin is often used in scripture for a people, a city, a nation. The virgin, the daughter of Bebylon, the wirgin, the wirgin, the daughter of Zion, the virgin, the daughter of Irrel, &c. These phrases signify the province, the land, the people of Babylon, Zion, Israel, &c. The grafactors of religion in general are called virgins, such as are not defiled with any scandalous sin, nor erroneous opinion. Mat. 25. 1. The kingdom of heaven shall be likened unto ten pirsins. which took their lamps. They are such as are not segues with my can, aim, nor erroseous opinion. Mat. 25. 1. The kingdom of heaven shall be likened unto ten virgins, which took their lamps. They are all called virgins, because they made profession of holiness; yet only five deserved the name, they having not only a profession, but he mane faith and love to feed their profession: The others made a profession, but hed not the truth of grace in the heart. The character of virgins is principally given to those that adhere stedfastly to Christ, and abbre every thing that has any then of violating their fidelity to him. Rev. 14. 4, These are they which are not corrupted with the erroneous doctrine and idolatrous worship of the anti-christian charch, for they are virgins: They keep close to Christ in all his ordinances, and are led by his word and Spirit. The Apostle says, I have espoused you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ, 2 Cor. 11. 2.

God visits men both in mercy and in wreth. He visited Sarah in his mercy, and gave her a son, Geo. 21. 1. He visited the Israelites in Egypt, and sent Moses to deliver them. Exod, 3. 16. He visited Hannah the mother of Samuel, and gave her sons and deughters, 1 Sam. 2. 21. And he visited Hannah the mother of Samuel, and gave her sons and deughters, 1 Sam. 2. 21. And he visited and redeemed his people with the coming of the Messlah Luke 1. 68. God visits also in his wrath and in his wangenes. He visits the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, to the third and fourth generation, Erod. 20. 5. visiting, that is, remembering, enquiring into, or punishing. He threatens to visit the iniquity of the worthippers of the golden calf in the day of his vengeance, Exod. 32. 34. Nothing is more frequent in the Israegae of the prophets, than the verb to visit, taken in the sense of punishing, chastiering, and revenging. To visit is also taken for paying visits of civility, friendship, or duty. Moses went to visit his brethren, Acts 7. 23. And Peul and Barnabas went to visit the churches they had planted, Acts 15. 36.

The encients had several kinds of vinegar, which they made use of for drink. Boas told Ruth, that the might come and dip her morsel in the vinegar, along with his people, Ruth 18. 19. Hervesters made use of this liquer for their refreshment: And this was a custom not

2. 19. Harbiters made use of this liquer for their refreshment: And this was a custom not only among the Jers, but also among the Romans. The emperor Pescennius Niger gave orders, that his soldiers should drink nothing but vinegar on their marches. And Constantine the Great allowed his soldiers wine and vinegar alternately every day. It is thought that the vinegar which the Roman soldiers offered to our Saviour at his crucificion, was the vinegar they made use of for their own drinking, Mai. 27. 48. This vinegar was not of that sort that we make use of for talade and sauce, but a small wine celled pasca, or sera. They make great use of it in Spain and Italy, in harvest-time. They use it likewise on shipboard, to correct the ill teste of water. The scripture forbids the Nezarites to use vinegar, and all sorts of liquors that come from the vine, and which are capable of insbriating, Num. 6. 3.

However, there was a kind of strong vinegar, wine, and which are capases of morrowing. Nam. 6. 3.

However, there was a kind of strong vinegar, which was not proper for drinking, or which was not used till it was well diluted. Solomon says, Prov. 10. 26, As vinegar to the teeth, so is the sluggard to them that send him.

"As vinegar by its cold and sharpness offends "the teeth and the palete, to a singgish mes" tenger is waterviceable and versations to those "who employ him." And in Prov. 25. 20, As vinegar upon nitre, so is he that singeth sougs to an heavy heart. That is, "as vine-was the sing thrown upon nitre is a thing im" proper, for it renders it less useful and not "so effectual to take out spect or blemishes, "so he that singeth songs to an heavy heart, "does that which is suscianosable and offension, "for his grief is thereby rather increased than "for the grief" is thereby rather increased than for his grief is thereby rather increased that diminished."

VIPER

A listle serpent, about half a yard in length, he the most poisonous in sits base of all the larpean serpents. It is called vipara, quant vinpara, because is bringe forth its young elect.
Generally the vipar is mot very leng, the largest being not above half an ell hug, ed its thickness not above an such. It has a fat head wish a most riving up, like that of a pi.
The male has only two testh, but the jemie has several; and the male is said to be comonely blacker than the jemule. It is not, that when the viper brings forth, the pow;
onts 'list the dam; but this is contrastent by experience. Though the brings faith at young alive, they are enclosed in listle time, that break open on the third day. The powe of the viper is very dangerens, but in faith it good in many distempers.

The viper is mentioned in seceral places of emture. Job 20. 16, The viper's tongue shall sly Vineyards. There were in Palestine n inegards. There were in Pelestine many excel-lert vinequates. Jecob, in his blessing to Judah, says. Binding his foal unto the vine, and his ass's colt unto the choice vine; he washed his garments in wine, and his clothes in the blood of grapes, Gen. 49. Pl. This was to skew the ekondance of vines, that should fall to his lot. The spouse in Cant. 1. 14, com-pares her beloved to a cluster of camphire, or cypress, that grows in the vineyards of En-gedi. The cypress-tree is a shrub that grows as high as a pomegrante-tree; is leaves are gedi. The cypresistres is a sarub that grow as high as a pomegramate-stee; its leaves are like those of the olive-tree, its blossom is white and mosest, and its fruit hange like clusters of grapes, and it of a very agreeable scent. Those grapes of the cypress that cama from the vineyards of Emgedi were of great reputations. tation the vineyards of En-gidi were of great reputation.

God compares his people to a vine, which he had brought out of Egypt, and planted in Palestine, as a good soil, but which, instead of bringing forth good fruit, brought forth only bitter fruit, and wild grapes, Psal. 80. 8.

Isa. 5. 1, &c. He alludes to the custom of transplanting trees for their more advantageons growth. Our Saviour thys, that "the "householder having let his vineyard to tements,
"who sught to have tendered him the fruit of
"it who sught to have rendered him the fruit of
"it, instead of that, they abused his servants,
"and hilled his own Son, who went to require
"the payment of what was owing to him," Max.
21. 33, &c. In this parable, the householder is God the Father; his planting a vineyard, denotes his establishing a church among the Jous, and furnishing it with all needful helps and means to make it spirimally fruitful; his letting it out to hubendmen, denotes his committing the care of it to the public passers, the presses, and Lavies, and governors of the church; his servante are the prophete and apos-tles, sent to tit them up to fuith and obs-dience, or holiness of life; his Som is Jenu Christ; and the scope of this parable is to show the Jess their obstinate imponiency under all means, and their incurablences; in their wil enthe Jess their obstinate impositings unser ais means, and their incusablenes; in their viil entreating God's messengers from time to time, and their crucifying of Christ; for which God will unchurch them, and set up a church among the Gentiles, and ruin the commonwealth of the Jess. In John 15, 1, Christing, I am the true vine, and my Father is says, I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman. "I am the root, fountain, "and head of influence, whence my people and members derive life, grace, fruifulness, and all good; And my Eather veters all things concerning my brunches or members, by interesting them into me, by visiting, defending, "apporting, pruning, and purging them convitinually to make them fruiful." he vine of Sodom, Deut. 32, 32. Their vine is the vine of Sodom; That is, a vine of a plant is the vine of Sodom; That is, a vine of a plant from Sodom, which brings forth only bitter grapes, and of which no use can be made. It is affirmed, that the fruits which grow about the Dead Sea are all rotten within; and when they is affirmed, that the frusts water grow and they Dead Sea are all rotten within; and when they Dead Sea are all rotten within; and when they full only of dust. Motes by Dean See are set rotten brinn; and when they are opined, are full only of dust. More this would then, that the people of Israel were degenerated, that their principles and practices were all corrupt and abominable. To express a were all corrupt and abominable. In express a time of public transpullity, of profused peace, it is said, that every one lives in quiet under his own vine, and under his own figure, I Kings 4. 25. Mic. 4. 4. Noah planted the vine after the deluge, and was the first that cultivated it, Gen. 9. 20. Many are of opinion, that wine was not unknown beare of opinion, that wine was not unknown be-fore the deluge, and that this Patriarch only continued to cultivate the vine after this grees extastrophs, as he had done before: But the fathers think that he knew not the force of wine, having never used it before, nor having over seen any one use it. He is supposed to be the first that pressed out the junce of the grape, and to have reduced it to a potable liquor. Before him, men only ate the grapes, like other fruit.

VALLEY.

There are several valleys mensioned in scripture; as the melley of Barachah, or of blessing, in the tribs of Judah, to the west of the Dead Sea, 2 Chron. 20. 26.

The vals of Siddim, Gen. 14. 3. In the Hebrus it is the valley of Hashedim, which some translate the vale of the fields, others the vale of chalk; the Septuagint, the vale of malt. It was in this vale that the cuties of Sodom and Gomorrah were built; and where ofterwards the lake Apphalises, or the Dead Sea, was formed.

was formed.

The velley of Shaveh, or otherwise, the king's dale, Gen. 14. 17. 2 Sem. 18. 18. Shaveh is a city lying in the king's dale, over-against Jeruselem, according to Eurobius. It was in this valley that Malchisedet met Abraham, at this return from his victory over the five kings. But some think this interview was at the foot of meant Taber.

The valley of Eschol, or the valley of grapes,

Num. 32. 9. This name was given to the valley of the land of promise, wherein the spies of the children of Israel gathered the bunch of grapes, which they brought to the camp at Kadeth, upon a pole between two men, Num.

13. 23, 24. This valley was to the south of the warmised land.

Nodeth, upon a pole between two men, Num.

13. 33, 94. This valley was to the south of the promised land.

The railey of Jerreel, Josh. 19, 18. This valley strated sizelf east and west from Scythologist to the front sizelf east and west from Scythologist to the feet of mount Cermel; in it there was a catebrated city built, of the same name, which belonged to the tribe of Issacher. Ababhad a palece there, 1 Kings 21. 1, 23. and this city become famous on the score of Nabolist vineyard, and the vengeance which God executed on Jesebel at at Jerreel, 2 Kings 9. 33. 4c.

The nelley of Achor, Josh. 7. 24. This valley west in the territory of Jericha, and in the first part of the service of Jericha, and in the first part of the service of Jericha, and in the first part of Jericha, and in the Jericha and Jeri tribe of Benjamin, where Achan, his sons and 2 Chr. 35.22. Josiah came to fight in v. of Megiddo daughters, were stoned to death. 'Ood says, that he will give the valley of Achor for a door of hope, Hot. 2. 15. that is, some beginnings of Paul. 23.4, vea, though I walk thro' the v. of death mercy and Messings, as the earnest and pledges of future favours: As this valley was a door of hope to Israel of their enjoyment of the promised land, so would God deal with repensing the control of the promised land, so would God deal with repensing to the control of Paul. 23.4 that subserble are in the of Paul.

mised land, so would God dead with repensing Irreel at the times there printed out. The valley of Jehoshaphat, Joed 3. 2. Some are of opinion that this valley is that where ting Jehoshaphat chained so rignal a victory, and with so much ease, against the Maebites, Ammonites, and their confederates, 2 Chron. 20. 1, 2, &c. This valley lay towards the Dead Sea, beyond the wilderness of Tehoch; and after this event it was called the valley of blessing, 2 Chron. 20. 26. because of the so-learn blessings and prainst that were given to God in it upon this occasion. Uthers think, that the valley of Jehoshaphat lies between the Medic of Jerusalem and the mount of Ulivez, and that it is watered with the brook Kidron, which ruse through the midst of this valley. which runs through the midst of this vale. There are likewise some who maintain, that the There are likewise some who maintain, that the ancient Hisbrew had no distinct knowledge of any particular place under the name of the velley of Jehoshaphat; and that Joel intended by it to show in general the place where God was to execuse his judgments against the nations, and will appear at the last judgment with all the brightness of his majesty. Jehoshaphat, in Hebrew, eights the judgment of God. And it is very probable, that the valley of Jehoshaphat, or God's judgment, mentioned in Joel, is symbolical. From this passage the Jews, and many Christians, have been of opinion, that the last judgment will be selemnised in the valley of Jehoshaphat.

The ralley of Hinnom, in Hebrew, it is Gehennon, whence comes the word Gehenna. See TOPBET.

The valley of vision, Isa. 92. 1. in the prophetical and Agurative style, signifies Jerusalem. It is called a valley by Antiphrasis, because it stead upon a mountain; or, according to others, it is called a valley comparatively to those higher mountains wherewith it was encompassed. higher mountains where with it was encompassed. And the additional name of vision was given to it, because of the many and cleer visions and revelations of God's mind in that place above all other parts of the world; or, at others will have it, because the tample of Jerusalem was built upon mount Moriah, which is the mountain of vision, Gen. 22, 14.

The Lord commanded Moses to make a vail of blue, and purple, and scarlet, and therewith to divide the holy of holies, which represented the highest heaven, from the holy place, where the church militant, or its representatives, met and served God, Exod. 26. 31, 32, 33. This vail typifed do had had a human nature of Christ, adorned with escellant gifts and graces, by which he has opened for me a way into heaven, Heb. 10. 19, 90. It ignified also the separation between the Jews and Gentiles, which is now removed by Christ, this vail was rent in twain, Mat. 27. 51. which throwed that the partition wall betwint Jews and Gentiles was pulled down; that God was leaving this temple, and abolishing all legal and ceremonial worship. And vanity, are taken in several senses in scripture. (1) For that which is unprofitable without fruit. Eccl. 1. 2, Vanity of vanities, all is vanity. All norlally things, and all men's designs, and sends about them, are absolutely vain, and insufficient to procure satisfaction and happinests. (C) It signifies empty, without any substance; as emptiness is opposed to that which is full, or heavy, or true.

1. To fulness; so promises not signifies are said to be vain promises. And Job calls the days of his affection mouths of vanity; that is, empty of solid joy, peace, or comfort, Job 7. 3. And in Paal. 2. 1, Why do the people imagine a vain thing? that is, an empty thing, without reason or hope. 2. As it is opposed to gravity; is light and incontant man are called vain men; in which sense idelaters are called vain men; in which sense idelaters are called vain persons, like the wind, and idels are called vanity, because of their motingness and imposence. 2 Kings 17, 15, They followed vanity and became vain. So in Isa. 41. 29, They are all vanity, then works are nothing; their motion images are wind and confusion.

3. As it is opposed to truth; as deceivful men and liars are called vain men, and liars are called vain words: thy words come mot from thy heart; then speakest against thy heavledge. Vain is often put for false. Exod. 20. 7, Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain. "Thou shalt not supeas to confirm a thing "that is false; them shalt not appeal to the Lord to witness what then affirmest." The liberou word shave, which is here translated by vain, is yet for false in some places of scripture, as Exod. 20. 16. Hos. 10. 4. (3) Vanity is taken for that which frustrates and disappoint him at the last, when he shall stanit, per son of his end; in this sense the hope and confidence of very surregenerate men, may justing the the day of the day of the wind and subject to vanity, t (4) It eignifies that which is weak, and observed in the creature was made subject to vanity, to discovered in the creature was made subject to vanity, to discovered in the creature was made subject to vanity, to discovered in the world, is like value, as to his continuance in the world, is like value, as to his continuance in the world, is like value, as to his continuance in the world, is like value, as to his continuance in the world, is like value, as to his continuance in the world, is like value, as to his continuance in the world, is like value, as to his continuance in the world, is like value, as to his continuance in the world, is like value, and the wind that is, insiguity, and the dedecity white of the think of it signifies in the property of the wise; that foolish creature man, who since the fall is void of all true wisdom and solid Zech 10.0, shall know that I have not said in the wise; that foolish creature man, who since the fall is void of all true wisdom and solid Zech 10.2, and the diviners comfort in the fall is void of all true wisdom and solid Zech 10.2, and the diviners comfort in the fall is void of all true wisdom and solid Zech 10.2, but in r. they workship we. By usury is generally underestord the gain of any thing above the principal, or that which was lent, exacted only in consideration of the loan, whether it be in money, corn, wares, or the like. It is most commonly taken for an unlawful profit, which a person makes of his money or goods. The Hobres word for usury signifies Biting. The law of God prohibits rigorous imposing of conditions of gain for the loan of money or good, and exacting them without respect to the condition of the borrower, whether he gain or lose; whether pacerty occasioned his borrowing, or a visible prospect of gain by employing the borrowed goods.

is said in Exod. 22, 25, 26, If thou lend mo it is said in Exod. 22, 25, 26. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor by thee, thou shalt not be to him as an unwer, neither shalt thou lay upon him unury, &c. And in Lev. 25, 35, 36, 37, If thy brother be waxen poor, and fallen in decay with thee, then thou shalt relieve him, yea, though he be a stranger, or a sojourner, that he may live with thee: Take thou no unury of him, &c. This less forbids the taking of unury from a brother that was poor, an Israelie reduced to poverty, or from a preselyer. But in Deut, 23, 20, God seems to tolerate usury towards strangers. Unto a stranger thou mayest lend upon usury. from a pracelyse. But in Deut, 23, 20, God seems to tolerate usury towards stranger; Unto a stranger thou mayest lend upon usury. By strangers, in this paisegs, some understand the Gentiles in general, or all such as were not Jenz, excepting prosslytes: Others think that by strangers are meant the Comaanites, and the other people that were devoted to elevery under subjection; of these the Ilebrews were permitted to exact usury, but not of such strangers with whom they had no quarrel, and against whom the Lord had not denounced his judgments. The Hebrews were plainly commanded in Exod. 22, 25, &c., not to receive usury for money from any that berrowed for necessity, at in that case in Neh. 5, 5, 7. And such position the law made for the preserving of estates to their families by the year of Jubile; for a people that had little concern in trade, could not be supposed to borrow money but out of necessity; but they were allowed to lend upon usury to strangers, whom yet they must not oppress. This law therefore, in the strictness of it, seems to have been peculiar to the femile states but in the motive of it.

not oppress. It is law therefore, in the strict-mess of it, seems to have been peculiar to the Jewish state; but in the equity of it, it oblig-eth us to them energy to those we have adventage against, and to be content to there with those we lend to in loss, as well as profit, if Provi-dence cross them: And upon this condition, a valuable commentator says, "It seems as lawdence cross them: And upon this condition, a valuable commentator says, "It seems at lawful, for me to receive interest for money, "which another takes pains with, improves, "but runs the hazerd of in trade, as it is to "receive rent for my land which another takes "pains with, improves, but runs the hazard of in husbandty."

Tir. 1. 15, unto them that are us is nothing pure Rev. 21, 8, the us shall have their part in the laic UNBELIEF ttev. 21. 8. the w. shall have their part in the lake UN BELIEY Is taken sometimes for weak faith, as in Mark 9. 24. Lord, I believe, help thou mine undelief. It is a capital and jountain evoil; end generally it is taken for a privation and utter want of faith, when the promises and threatening; in God's word are wholly distrusted. These Jews who did not rely on God's word, but rejected the promises, rebelled against the precepts; and maximured against the proceeding of God, could not enter into the promised lend, but were consumed in the wilderness, Heb. 3. 19. And this nation was afterwards rejected by God, because of their unbelief; they would not accept of Christ; nor acknowledge him for the Messiah, Rom. 11. 20, because of unbelief, they were broken off. And as the Israelitas, by reason of unbelief, were not allowed to enter into Canasan, so unbelievers shall not enter into Canasan. 356. He that believeth not the Scushall not see life. Acaven. The la John 3. 36. He shall not see life.

shall not see life. Unbelief renders the benefits of Christ fruitlers and ineffectual; it is said, Mark 6. 5, 6, that Christ could do no mighty works in his own country, because of their unbelief; it made them unfit for receiving benefit from his miracles, and therefore he suppended his miraculous power. Unbelief of one begets confusion, and desables men to do that which otherwise they would have been able to do, if they had believed; thus when the man brought his son, who was a lunatic, to the apostles, to be cured by them; they seeing his condition so bad, by reason of the devil that possessed him, and that for so long a time together, questioned whether they power they had received, would enable them to cast him out and cure the man, Mat. 17. 16. Unbelief hath often corpural praised whoth for a season, lake 1. 20. Unbelievers have their part in the lake that burns with five and brimstone, Rev. 21. 8. Christ died not to expicte final infidelity. This sincharges all the quilt of sinners upon themselves: It renders the sufferings of Christ fruitless as to them: For it is not the preparation of a soveriegn remedy that cures the discusse, but the application of it. As our sins series imputed to Christ, upon account of his unson with us in meture, and his convent to become our surety; so his righteounness in the suffering soft christ him by a true and dively faith. It is not free for the count of his chart refunded in unbelief.

TRUTH

TR thanks to God, that he had not less destitute his master of his mercy and his truth: He hath sheated him his mercy in giving him plents of good things, and his truth in fulfilling and performing all his promises to him. Or, mercy and truth may express a stable, constant, and permanent mercy or kindness; that is, "Blessed" be the Lord, who has favoured my master" Abraham in so constant and uniform a manuary mer." The Pselmist in several places estolistic mercy and truth of God. It is his mercy that prevents and promises, and it is his truth that executes and performs. In Psal. 57, 10. he says, Thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds. This expresses their greatness, immensity, and estent; and that all creatures partake of them. (3) Truth is put for the true doctrine of the gospel. Gal. 3, 1, Who hath bewitched you, that you should not obey the truth 7 (4) Truth is put for the substance of the types and cerementes of the substance of the types and cerements of the substance and truth came by Jesus Christ: but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ: The fulfilling of all the types and prophecies in the law, was by and in Christ 'So in John 14.

6, I am the truth and sub"stance of all the types and shadows of the "stance of all the types and shadows of the "law." Or, say others, "I am the great docto"of my church, who teach them what course t.
"take to get to heaven." (5) True is past for reality, and is opposed to that which is not or;
spens and of isself. Eph. 4. 21. John 1. 9.
That was the true light: Christ has light in himself, and from himself; he is the original fountain-light, from whence light is derived to all others. (6) True is opposed to hypocrisy, dissimulation, or formality. Iled 10. 22, the us draw near with a true heart; that is,
with wprightness, integrity, and sincerity of heart. heart.

TRIBUTE,
In Greek, Phores: in Hebrew, Mam; which is derived from the verb Mann, to melt, or siquely. The Hebrews acknowledged mone for sourrien over them, but God alone: Whence Josephus calls their government a Theocracy, or divine government. They acknowledged the sovercian dominism of God by a tribute, or cepitation, of half a takels a head, which every irrestive paid him wearly, Exod. 30. 13.
Our Sariour, in Mat. 17. 25. thus reasons with Peter; What thinkest thou, Simon?
Of whom do the kings of the earth take custom, or tribuse? of their own children, or of strangers? Meaning, that as he was the Son of God, he ought so be exempt from the cepitation.

or of nessignes: insume, time me me me consistency. God, he enght to be exempt from the capitation. Tribute is a stom of the duty and subjection which subjects one unto them, and as a recompence for their cere and presection, and in order to support them in their authority and dignity. After the Jew was conquered by the Romane, they still continued very tenaceous of their liberty, and gloried much in the right they had to it; as eppears from John B. 33. They made it a question, whether it was agreeable to the law of God, to post tases to a Pagan conquerer, and therefore they ask our Saviener, Mat. 22. 17, What thinest thou? Solomon, at the beginning of his reign, compelled the Canamites, who were left in the country, to pay him tribute, and to perform the drudgery of the public works he had undertaken: And as to the children of Israel, he would not rufer them to be exployed therein, but made them his soldiers, his ministers, his chief officers, to command his armies, his chariots, and his horsemen, 1 Kings 9, 21, 22, 23. 2 Chron. 8, 2 Yes however, towards the end of his reign, he imposed a tribute upon them and made them work at the public buildings; which much alienated their minds from him, and cound the seeds of that discontent which afterwards appeared in an open revole, by the rebellion of Jeroboam the ton of Nobel, 1 Kings 5, 13, 14, 19, 15, 11, 27. Jeroboam was at first obliged to take shelter in Egypt; but afterwards the defection became general, by the total revolt of the tentribes. It was upon account of these tares and levies, that the Israelites said to Rehoboam the service of thy father, and his heavy yoke which he put upon us, lighter, and we will serve thee, 1 Kings 12. 6

Jacob having twelve sous, who were the heads of so many great families, which altogether formed, a great nation; every one of these families was called a tribe. But Jacob on his death bed adopted Ephreim and Manasteh, the sous of loseph, and would have them also to constitute two tribes of Israel, Gen. 48. 5. Instead of twelve tribes, there were now thirteen, that of Joseph being divided into two. However, in the distribution of lends to the wombe made h. Jachna distribution of lends to the wombe made h. Jachna Joseph being divided into use. However, with distribution of lands to the people made by Joshus by the command of God, they counted but theles tribes, and made but twelve lots. For the tribe of Levi, which was a tiches nove divided into four grams body, composed of three tribes. The first hosy, was the front of the army, was smade up tribes of Judah, Iseachar, and Zabudan, second was composed of Random Samean, Gad. Between the occord and chard betroops, come the Israiles and primars, we are of the Lord, the curtain, the plants pillars, and all the other furnature of the tribes of Ephraim, Manacash Benjamin. The footh and last, which he up the rear was made up of the tribes of Asher, and Nephalis, Num. 10, 5, 6, 14. We have an account of the division of the to Canasa among the swelve tribes in the bishus. The twelve tribes continu Canana among the twolves tribues in the in Joshus.

The twelve tribus continued united under one making but one state, one people, and march, till ofter the death of Sodeman: ten of the tribus of Israel revolted from house of David, and recuived for their king roboom, the sin of Nobel; and only the try Judah and Benjamin continuand under the transmit of Rhobosm, 1 Kings 12: 10. This separation may be looked upon as the centre of those great calamities that aftern happened to those two kingdoma, and in whole Hobrew nation. For its mas the centre of the accent worthing of the alternation and change of the addrain and of the ancent worthing of their fortim Jeroboum, the son of Nobet, understand worthing of golden calves instead of the art tribus of resident the tribus of resident the tribus of sealing the tribus of the Lord; which was the occusion of the tribus of sealing the Lord. TREE.

Both good and wicked men are compared to trees.
The godly, says the Psalmist, shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bring, eth forth his fruit in his season, Psal. 1. S. His soul shall be pleasifully fed from heaven with the never-failing influences of grace and consolation, whereby he shall be made fruitful in every good word and work. John the Beptist seys, Mat. 3. 10, The axe is laid to the root of the trees; therefore every tree which bring, eth not forth good fruit, is hewn down and cast into the fire; that is, "The judgment of Ood " sous, if you be either barren, or do mot bring " forth good fruit; Vengeance is an nigh unto
" you, as the tree is to falling, to whose root
" the are is already applied." Our Saviour speaks to the same purpose in the latter part of his sermon wpon the mount, Mat. 7. 19. The godly are called trees of righteousness, that is, persons bringing forth the fruits of righteousness, Isa. 61. 3. The wicked are called trees whose fruit withereth; whose lives are full of all wickedness; Jude 12. The king of Asyria's army are called trees. Isa. 10. 19, "he rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may write them; The remainder of his mighty host shall be so few, that the meanest accomptent may be their muster-muster.
There is mention made in scripture of several kinds of trees and plants, but there is hardly any thing less certain, than the Hebrew mames of them. When the Jews had planted a vine or fruit-tree, they were not allowed to eat of the fruit for the first three years. They offered to God that of the fourth year, and aftermaria might use whatever those trees produced at their discretion, Lev. 19, 23. See Fruit.

Tyes of life, Gen. 2, 9, so called, because it was a natural means of preserving men's life, and decays, during his abode on earth; and also a accomptain, Lev. 19, 23. See Fruit.

TRANSFIGURED.

The history of Christ's transfiguration is recorded by St. Matthew, Mark, and Luke. All three agree that this transfiguration was celebrated upon a mountain, which most interpreters that to be mount Taber. Matthew, chap. 17. 1, says, but six days; Luke 9. 28. menuions sight days after the promise our Savienr made, that some of them should not taste of death, till they saw the Son of man coming in his kinedom. Some of them should not taste of death, till they saw the Son of man coming in his kingdom. Some think it probable, that St. Luke counted inclu-sively, reckening the day of the promise, (taking the Son of man's coming in his kingdom, to mean his transfiguration) and the day of the execu-tion: Whereas St. Matthew had regard only to the six intermediate days.

It is thought that this transfiguration happened in lieve their parents, and consequently from 18 thereas St. Matther had regard only to 18 tell the strengtession of the law; but I tell the strengtession of mouth upon Monnt Sinai, at the same me that he gave him the written law; I that his lawjuer taught them to the ciders of the topole, and committed them to them is a trust, hich they were to convey down to their nuccession; and so on.

TOWER.
In Hebrew, Migdal. [1] It is put for proud lofty men, Isa. 2. 15. [30. 25. [2] The Lord Jesus Christ, Paal. 61. 3. Prov. 18. 10.
The stripture mentions inseveral towers. The tower of Silvam mentioned in Luke 13. 4. was probably near the fountain of that name, to the east of Jeruselm: Or, as others think, it was over the fountain, and fell upon the people who had come thicher to want themselves, or to receive benefit by the maters.
The tower of the flock, Mic. 4. 8. Some refer this to the tower of Edar, which was in the neighbourhood of Beth-lehem, Gen. 35. 21. They say likewise, that the shepherds, to whom the angel revealed the birth of our Saviour, were near to this tower, Luke 2. 8, 15. Many interpreters assert that the passage of Micah, wherein mension is made of the tower of the flock, stood for the city of Beth-lehem, out of which our Saviour was to come. Others maintain, that the prophet intended it for the city of Jehr-lehem, out of which our Saviour was to come. Others maintain, that the prophet intended it for the city of Jehrualem, in which there was a tower of this name, through which the flocks of sheep were driven into the sheep-markes.

of the colour of gold. It is pretended this stone took its name of Topaz from an island in the Red-see, which has the same name. Plimy will have Juhe, king of Mauritania, to have been the first that found them: But if it was known to Moses, it must be much more ancient than Juhe. Job speaks of the Pitdath of Cush, or Ethiopia, Job 28. 19. which may comfirm their opinion who make the Topax to comfrom the Red-see; because there was a country of Cush lying upon the sastern shore of this sea. This stone was the second of the first row

TOPHET.

It is thought that Tophet was the butchery, or place of sloughter at Jerusalem, lying to the south of the city, in the valley of the children of Hismom. It is also said, that a constant fire used to be kept there, for burning the carcaies, and other filthiness, that were brought thinker from the city. It was no the same place that they east away the ather and remains of the images of false gods, when they demolished their alters, and broke down their statues. Isaich seems to allude to this cuttom, of burning dead carcaies in Tophet, when speaking of the defeat of the army of Schnackerth, he says; For Tophet is ordained of old; yea, for the king it is prepared; he hath made it deep and large. The pile thereof is fire and much wood; the breath of the Lord, like a stream of brimstone, doth kindle it Though this may be figuratively understood of hell.

it Though this may be figuratively understood of hell.

Others think the name of Tophet is given to the valley of Hinnom, because of the sacrifices that walley of Hinnom, because of the sacrifices that were aftered there to the god Moloch, by beat of drum, which in Hebrew is called Toph. It was in this manner that these sacrifices were offered: Tops. In 22, 18, he will turn and t. thee like a ball with this manner that these sacrifices were offered: The statue of Moloch was of brast, hollow within, with its arms is tended, and stooping a Picel. 109, 23, 1 am t. up and down as the locust little forward. In Hebrew, Choled which the Springene translate by land crocodile, others by green-frog. It is numbered among the unclean animals, Lev. 11. 29. This land crocodile is a not of list, which feeds upon the sweetest flowers it can find this makes it entrails to be very much rabuse for their agreeable smell. St. Jerom suys, that the Syrians used to eat crocodiles of this kind, which live upon the land only.

Ais word is taken in three different sonses. (1)

For the material tongue, or organ of speech.

Jam. 3. 5, The congue is a little member. (2)

For the tongue or language that is spoken in any country. Deut. 23. 49, The Lord shall bring a nation against thee, whose congue thou shalt not understand. (3) For good or bad dis course. Prov. 12. 18, But the longue of the wise is health: His discourse is sound and madelesses in titell and tends to the comfort. wise is health: His discourse is sound and wholesome in itself, and tends to the comfert and benefit of others. On the contrary, He that hath a perverse tengue falleth into mischief, Prov. 17. 20, that is, He that speaks deceifully or wickeldy. Many questions are proposed about tongues, taken in the second sense, or for lenguage. It is asked, (1) If God was the author of the first tongue? and if he gave is to Adam by infusion? or if Adam invented it, and acquired it by industry and labour? (2) If this language is still in being? And, (3) If so, then which is it?

then which is it?

Trofane authors, and such as had no knowledge of the holy acriptures, or of the history of the creation of the world, imagined that men were produced by chance in different parts of the world, and come out of the ground, as also all other animals besides; that at first they had no lenguage, nor any notions of thing; that first of all mere necessity, and afterwards conveniency taught them to invent certain sounds, or words, by which to communicate their notions to one another: that hence languages were formed, which became different from each other, because they were invented separately, and their authors had no communication with one another.

and their authors had no communication with one another. But the howeldge we have now of the origin of mankind does not leave us my room to doukt, but as God created Adam perfect, so he endued him with language to express his thoughts und conceptions. Therefore we find, that the first man presently after his creation, returns an-swers to God, speaks to his wife, and gives names to the brue creatures. His children and successors probably spake the same language as himself, down to the deluge; and after the de-tuge, till the confusion of tongues that happen-ed at Babel. Men are not agreed as to the manner in which ed at Babel. Men are not agreed as to the manner in which this famous confusion was brought about. It is diubted whether all of a sudden God might not make all men forget their own language, and give them a new one, entirely different from the former: or, whether by confoundings their ideas, and disturbing their imaginations, he put into their mouths different dialects of the first language: So that the primitive tongue remaining uncorrupt in some families, became at once a foreign tongue to those that spoke it before; as also that the dialects of the primitive language became barbarous and waknown to before; as also that the dialects of the primi-tive language became barbarous and nuknown to those who were the depostaries, as it were, of the ancient language. Or, whether God might mot permit that men should be perplessed, and become unintelligible to each other, and there-fore separate, and that their separation should give occasion to this change of language, by the necessary consequence of distance of place, and want of communication with each other. These several opinions have each had their pa-trons and maintainers. As to the first tongue which God communicated to Adam at his creation, there have been but few nations in the world, which have not had the ambition of having it for their som tongue; list the generality of critics have declared for the Hebrew tongue, and given it the preference before all others. The conciseness simplicity, energy, and Jertility of it, and the relation it has to the most ancient oriental lenguages, which seem to derive their origin from it, the etymology of the names whereby the privation this language: the names of animals which are all significant in the Hebrew tongue, and describe the nature and property of these very animals, particulars which are not to be observed in any other language: all these characters meeting together, raise a prejudice very much in Januar of its primacy and excellency. It has further another privilege, namely, that the most encient and ventrable books in the world are written in Hebrew.

Nevertheless several other very able critics are of opinion, that the Hebrew tongue, nuch as we see it at present in the Bible, and as it was in the time of Moses, is not the primitive lenguage, pure, and uncorrupted; they observe many world in the Hebrew. They are willing to allow, that there are more joststeps of Adam's language preserved in the Hebrew than in any other tongue; but this, they say, has undergened itors thanges are aldersations, and in the services of so many ages, from Adam down to Moses, many roots of this language were lost, and others of a fareign estination received.

The men that worship the beast are said to gauw their tengues for pain, Revised from the congues of land, are terms used in acripture for the estremity or point of the Dead see; as in Joah, 15, 12, 7 heir south border was from the shore of the salt sea, from the tongue that looketh southward. Or, for a prinishda, a cape, a promontory of land, esterching out into the sea, Josh. 18, 199. The sourge of the tongue, Job Sch. 18, 199. The sourge of the stangue, Job Sch. 18, 199. The sourge of the stangue, Job Sch. 18, 199. The active speeches.

By this are to be understood, malicious discourses, scandal, calumny, insulting, and effencine speaches.

The gift of tongues, which God granted to the Apostles and disciples assembled at Jeruselem, on the day of Pentecost, Acts 2. 3, 4, &c. were communicated to the faithful, as may be seen by the spirites of St. Paul, which regulate the manner in which this great privilege was to made use of in their assemblies, 1 Cor. 12, 10, 14. 2, &c. It continued in the church as long as God thought it necessary, for the conversion of the heathen, and the confirming of believers. In 1 Cor. 13. 1, St. Paul says, Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal. By which is not to be understood that the angels have any sensible tongue, either common or proper: the Apostle intends to use a kind of hyper bole; that it, I would have very one set a due value upon the gift of tongues; but though a man should have all the eloquence that can be imagined, could he speak as well as angels themselves, this inestimable gift would be of little use to him as to saloation, if he is without charity, or a principle of true love to God and man in his heart.

The practice of paying tithes is very ancient; for we find, Gen, 14. SO, that Abrakam gave tithes to Melchivedek, king of Salem, at his tetwarn from his expedition against Chedorlaomer, and the font kings in confederacy with him. Abraham gave him the tithe of all the booty teken from the senemy. Jecob imitated this piety of his grandfather when he voxed to the Lord the tithe of all the substance he might acquire in Mesopotemia. Gen. 28. CC, If all that thou shalt give me, I will surely give the tenth unto thee; for the maintenance of thy worship, and other pious week. Under the law, Moses ordained, Lev. 27. 30, 31, 32, All the tithe of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the Lord's; it is holy unto the Lord, &c.

There were three sorts of tithes to be paid from the people (besides those from the Lexies to the priests,) Num. 28. 26, 27, &c., (1) To the Lavites, for their maintenance, Num. 18. 21, 24. (2) For the Lord's feasts and sacrifices, to be acten in the place which the Lord should choose to put his name there; to wit, where the ark should be, the tabernacie or temple. This tenth pert was either sent to Jaruselam in kind, or, if it was too far, they sent the value in menue, which war to be laid out for aren, sheep, wine, or what elie they pleased, Deut. 14. 22, 23, 24, &c. (3) Barides these two, there was to be, very third year, a tithn for the poor, to be acten at their own deellings, Deut. 15. 28, 29. Some are of opinion that this third tithe was not different from the steom before taken notice of, except that in the third year it was not brought to the temple, but was used upon the pool yeary one in the tity of his habitation: So that there were only, according to them, two sorts of tithes, that which was given to the Larites and griests, and that which was applied to making feasts of charity, either in the temple of Jerusalem, or in other cities.

Tithes were paid to God at a rign of homoge and gratitude: thus Abraham's giving tithes, of the spoil is Melchizedek, was a token that the owned his victory and nucess to be from God; and when tithes were hope back from God; and when tithes were kept back from Cod; and when tithes were kept back from Apostle provet the mperiority of Melchizedek and his priesthood above the patriarch Abraham, and Levi in his loins, paid tithes was honouring of God, Prov. 3. 9. Hence the Apostle provet the mperiority of Melchizedek and his priesthood above the patriarch Abraham, and the priesthood of Lavi, because Abraham, and they in this loins, paid tithes was honour him, at the lesser unto the greater, Heb. 7. 4, 5, 6, &c.

In the New Testament, neither our Saviour, nor his apostles have commanded any thing in this affair of tithes: only when our Lord sent his forbad them to carry their purse or provisions along with them, but to enter into the hence of those that were willin his good things to him that gives it him, Gal. 6.6. It is agreeable to nature and reason, that they which wait at the altar should live by the altar, 1 Cor. 9.13. And as God, under the law ordained and appointed a living or maintenance for his ministers, so as they needed not, as other men, to labour with their heads to get bread to eat; so under the New Testament, God has ordained, that thous who are taken off from worldly employments, and spend their time in the study and preaching of the gospel, should have a livelihood for their labour. 1 Cor. 9.14, Even so hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the gospel, should live of the gospel. And in the 7th verse, Who goeth a warfare at his own charges? We most betweeners autions, and the heathen of the gospet. And in the the weet, who gooth a warfare at his own charges? The most barbarous nations, and the heather Greeks and Romens, out of a principle of religion common to all men, have often dedicated their tithes to their gods. Some have made it a standing obligation, others have done it upon particular occasions, and by the impulse of a transient devotion. Laertius says, that when Pisistratus, tyrant at Athens, wrote to Solon, to persuade him to return to Athens, he tells him, "that every one there pays the tithe of "his goods for the offering of sacrifices to the Arabian marchants who traded in spices, dure not sell any till they had paid the tithe to their god Sabis: And Phitarch, in more places than one, mentions a custom of the Romans, of offering to Hercules the tithe of what they took from their enemies.

Urim and Thummin; According to the Habrews, Exod. 28. 30, the literal signification of these two words is, light and perfection, or the shining and the perfect. According to St. Jerome, doctrine and judgment. According to the LXX, declaration or manifestation, and truth. Some declaration or manifestation, and truth. Some will have it, that the Urim and Thummim are will have it, that the Urim and Thummim are only spithete or explanations of the stones of the breat-place of the hist-priest; as if it ware said. Thou shalt put therein stones that are shining and perfect. Others, to prove that the Urim and Thummim were not the same thing with the twelve stones in the breast-plate, give the following reasons. (1) Because the stones were set and engraven in the breast-plate, Exed. 28. 17, 21. the Urim and Thummim only put int it, which is a word of quite different and more losse and large signification, and herefore probably does not dasign the same thing. (2) It is not likely, that in such a 631 brief account of the sacred utensils, the same command would be repeated again; especially in more dark and general words than it was mentioned before. And how could Moose put it in, when the workmen had fastened is there before? Or, why should he be required to put it in the breast-plate, when it was fastened to it already, and could not, without violence, be taken from it? (3) Because the stones were put in it by the workmen, Exod, 39, 10, the Urim and Thummim by Moses himself, Lav. 8. 8. It is objected, that where the stones are mentioned, there is no mention of Urim and Thummim, as in Exod. 39, 10. And that where the Urim and Thummim are mentioned there is no mention made of the stones, as in these is no mention made of the stones, as in Inummim, as on Exon. 39. 10. And that where the Urim and Thummim are mentioned, there is no mention made of the stones, as in Lev. 8. 8. which teams to shew they were one and the same thing. To which they ensure, that there is an evident reason for both these omissions; of the former in Evodus, because Moses mentions only those things which were made by the sworkmen, whereas the Urim and Thummim seems to have been made immediately by God, or by Moses with God's direction: Of the latter in Laviticus, because the stones are implied in the breast-plate as a part of it, and fastened to it, whereas there Moses only mentions what was put in by himself. Some say, that the Urim and Thummim were two little golden figures which gave responses, which were shut up in the breast-plate as in a purse, and which emissered, with an articulate voice, to all such questions as were put to them by the high-priest. Others think, that the name Jennov the written woon a plate of gold, was that the scripwritten upon a plate of gold, was that the scrip-ture calls Urim and Thummim. There are ture calle Urim and Thummhn. There are various other conjectures concerning the Urim and Thummin, but nothing certain, because the scripture is silent in this matter. It may suffect us to know, that this was a simpular piece of divine workmanship, which the high-priest was obliged to wear upon solemn occasions, as one of the conditions upon which God engaged to give him answers.

to give him answers. here is a great disersity of opinions likewise concerning the manner in which God was con-sulted by Urim and Thummim. It is agreed,

There is a great discrisity of opinious libewise concerning the manner in which God was consulted by Urim and Thummin. It is agreed, that this way of consultation was used only in affairs of very great importance: that the high-priest was the only officiating minister in this ceremony; and that for this he was to be clothed in all his postifical habits; particularly he was to have on his breast-plate, to which the Urim and Thummin was officed; and lastly, that was not allowed to perform this solamn consultation for a private person, but only for the king, for the president of the Sankedrim, for the general of the army of Irrael, or for other public persons: And even then, not woon any affair of a private party of the things that relate to the public welfare of church or state.

When the Urim and Thummin was to be consulted, the high priest put on his robes, and presented himself, not in the sanctuary, where he could not enter but once a year, but in the holy place, before the curiam that parted the wost holy from the holy place. There standing upright, and turning his face toward the ark of the covenant, upon which the divine presence reposed, he proposed the matter for which he had been consulted. Behind him, at some distance out of the holy place, tood the person for whom God was consulted, aspecting, with humility and recerence, the enswer that is should please the Lord te give him. The Rabins, who are followed by Jorephus, Phile, and several of the ancient fathers; are of opinion, that the high-priest having then his eyes face upon the stones of the breast-place, which was is before him, he there read the enswer of the Lord. The letters that raised themselves out of their places, and that is hined with more than ordinary plusts, were formed into the answer desired. For example, when David inquired of God, whether his hould go up to one of the cities of Judah, 2 Sam. 2.1. it was answered him, Alah, go up. The three letters Ain, Lamed, and He, ceme out of their places, as it were, and retied themselves above came out of their places, as it were, and raised themselves above the rest, to compose that word which contained the answer.

which contained the answer. In this opinion, that there are some difficulties in this opinion. All the letters of the Hebrew alphabet were not found in the breast-plate: there were four wanting, Iloth, Teth, Zade, and Koph. To supply these, the Robbins pretend that the names of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, were also woom the breast-plate: but for all that, Teth would be still wanting. Therefore they say, that this title also was read thre, Colelle-schibte-Israel.—See here all the tribes of Israel. But all this is advanced vithous proof, and without the least probability. A second difficulty is that that though one should admit all that the Hebrew doctors suggests in this affair, yet by what rules did the high-priest make a combination of these letters, and how yet he them together? For it is not said that they came out of their places, but that they only raised themselves above the rest. Suppose, for example, that any six of the letters should have swelled ash kined with more than ordinary lasters. I have must the high-priest dispose them for example, that any six of the letters should have swelled and shined with more than ordinary lustre; how must the high-priest dispose them which must be first or last? It is answered, that in this circumstance, he was always in spired and filled with the spirit of prophecy; but if is were so, then the Urim and Thummi would have been unnecessary: For why must miracles be multiplied without any occusion? The high-priest needed only speak himself. And perhaps the whole use of the Urim and Thummim was this, to be a sign to the high-priest leaded only speak himself. And perhaps the whole use of the Urim and Thummim was this, to be a sign to the high-priest leaded only speak himself. And perhaps the whole use of the Urim and Thummim was this, to be a sign to the high-priest late the Lord would replexish him with an internal and repermental light, and make him know his will in what was inquired after. Others think, with a great deal of probability, that God them gave his answers in articulate voices, which were heard within the senetury, and from between the charubins; which covered the ark or the propiliatory. When the Israelites made pace with the Gibsonites, they were blamed for not having inquired at the mouth of the Lord, Josh. 9. 14. which insinuates that he had been used to make his voice heard when he mas countleted.

he had been used to make his voice heard when he was consulted. If it be inquired how long the custom of consulting God by Urim and Thummim subsisted in Irrael; the Rabbins think, that it continued no longer than under the tabernacte. It is a maxim among them, that the Holy Spirit spake to the children of Israel by Urim and Thummim while the tabernacles remembed; and under the first temple, that is, the temple of Solomon, by the prophets; and under the second temple, or after the captivity of Babylon, by the Bulhkol, or the daughter of the voice. By this they mean a voice some from keaven, as that which was heard at the baptism of Christ, and at his transfiguration, Mat. 3. 17, 17. 5.

Spencer has adopted this opinion, and endeavoured to support it by these two arguments. The first is, that the Urim and Thummim were a consequence of the divine government, or of the Theoretacy of the Hobrets. While the Coft immediately governed his people, it was necessare these there there is an entered and a second the consequence.

the Theocracy of the Hebreus. While the Lord immediately governed his people, it was neces-eary that there should always be a means at head to manufacture. at the Theorracy of the Hebreus. While the Lord immediately governed his people, it was necessary that there should always be a means at hand to consult him, and to have recourse to him. Secondly, that this method was established to consult God woon affairs that common. Ent the Theoreacy ceased, says he, when the kingdom became hereditary in the person and family of Solomon. The interests of the nation ceased to be common, after the division of Israel into two monarchies; one governed to the relation testing the sacred history, that what seems to be more convicing than any reasons drawn from a conformity of things, it does not appear from the sacred history, that there are any fositieps of convalting the Lord by Urim and Thummim, after the construction of the temple of Solomon to the time of judgment, the urim and the t. Psel. 50. 21. thou t. I was such a one as thyself

Psal. 50, 21. thou t. I was such a one as thyself THOUGHT, Peal. 50. 31. thou s. I was such a one as thyself THOUGHT, or thinking, is not abougt taken for the pure operation of the mind while it thinks, without passing a judgment, or taking any resolution. The thought often includes a formed design of doing something, as in Paal. 56. 5, All their thoughts are against me for will: Their purposes and resolutions are to do me mischief. So in Prov. 12. 5, The thoughts of the right. So in Prov. 12. 5, The thoughts of the right. His constant purpose is to deal justly and truly. And Paal. 33. 11, The counsel of the Lord standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations: All his purposes, designs, and undertakings, are successful and irresistible. And Paal. 146. 4, In that very day his thoughts perish: All his designs and endeavours, either for himself or for others. St. Paul says, Rom. 2. 15, Their thoughts the mean while accusing, or else excusing, on enother; when their conscience bears testimmy to them, either for good or will. Thought is put for insured reasoning. Luke 9. 46, 47, There arose a reasoning among them: And Jesus perceiving the thought of their theart. Also for immoderate or anxious cere. Mat. 10. 19, Take on thought what ye shall speak, It is taken for the opinion. Joh 12. 5, He that is ready to slip with his feet, is as a lamp despised in the thought of him that is at ease; or, in the opinion of such as are in a plentiful condition.

THONGS. Acts 22. 25. as they bound him with t. Paul said THORN t a prickly shrub well known. It was with thorns that Gideon chastised the men of Succeeth, who refused to relieve his ermy, when they were pursuing 20th and Zahmanna, two kings of Midien, Judg, 8, 7, 16. Either he chastised, or beat their naked bodies with thorny rods till they died; or, he laid them down upon thorns, on the ground, and brought the cart-wheir good them, which did both tear their flesh, and bruise them to death. Thorns are mit for great discussions in mediumnize. their flesh, and bruise them to death. Thorns are put for great difficulties and impediments. Job 5. 5, Whose harvest the hungry eateth up, and taketh it even out of the thorns. And in Hos. 2. 6, I will hedge up thy way with thorns: I will bring the into streets and difficulties. It is likewise put for the heat of a fire kindled by thorns. Psal. 38. 9, Before your pots can feel the thorns. S. 7. Paul says, 2 Cor. 12. 7. that lest he should have been essatted above measure, through the abundance of the revelations which he had, there was given to him a thorn in the flesh, that is, some racking pain in his body; or terrors of conscience, or some diabolical violent templation.

that is, some racking pain in his lody; or terrors of conscience, or some diabolical violent temptation.

The Lord told the Israelites, that such of the inhabitants of Canaam, as they should let remain in the land, would be pricks in their eyes and thorns in their sides; that it, they would be very hurful and pernicious to them, Num. 33. 55. The wicked are compared to thorns, not only because of their betreeness, and emprehiableness in any thing that is good. Mat. 7. 16, 19, Do men gather grapes of thorns? But also because of their permicious hurful disposition towards the church and people of God, Josh. 23. 13. Esek. 28, 24. To sow among thorns, is to greach the word to worldly and carnal hearts, Mat. 13. 7, 22. Many are deluded, and betreyed to a neglect of their rouls, through an excessive eare about getting, keeping, and managing their astates: to that prosperity is their mars. The soldiers, to insult our Savious, and to despite his royalty, plasted a crown of thorns, and put it upon his head, Mat. 27. 29. Thorns were the fruit of these curse for man's tim, Gen. 3. 18. and the smoke of the incense which came ith the prayers of the saints ascended upfrom God out of the angel's hand. The angelfrom God out of the angel's hand. The angelfrom mentioned, is the angel of the covenant, hrist our Lord, who intercedes for us with God, and, as our Mediator, constantly offers up our respers watco him. And the manner of his doing his is set forth by the manner of the spical reresentation of it in the temple.

as there, at every morning and evening sacrice, the priest, in virtue of that sacrifice, enaring into the holy place, and presenting himelf as the golden altar, which stood direct, effer the mercy-sent, (the throns of God's viridie presence among them during the tabernucle and the first temple) did burn incense thereen, while the people were at their prayers without, thereby, as an intercessor to God for them, to here my their prayers to him for his gracions acreprance, and to make them ascend up before him from out of his hands as a succet-smelling ravour in his presence; so Christ, our true priest, and most powerful interessing, by virtue of that one sacrifice of himself once offered up, being entered into the holy place, the heaven above, is there continually present before the throme of mercy, to be a constant intercessor for us musto God; she there presents

they are accepted as a successmelling satour in his prasture.

In it being well understood among the June that the offering mp of the daily sacrifices, and the burning of incense upon the altar of incense, at the time of those sacrifices, was for the rendering of God propitions to them, and making their prayers to be acceptable in his prasture, they were very careful to make the times of these offerings, and the times of their prayers, both at the temple, and every where also, to be exactly the same.

The most pions and devost persons that were at Jerusalem, chose on those times to go up into the temple, and there to offer up their prayers into God; thus Peter and John are seed to go up into the temple, and there to offer up their prayers into God; thus Peter and John are seed to go up into the temple, and there to offer up their prayers into God; thus Peter and John are seed to go up into the temple, and there of the offering up the intendity of the day, which was at three in the firstoom, the time of the offering up the evening sacrifice, Acts 3.1. Those who were in the firstoom to the temple, performed their devotins elsewhere: If it were a synagogue, and there prayed with the congregation: and if it were not a synagogue, they thou prayed in private by themselves; and if they had leisure to go to the synagogue, they chose that for the place to do it in, thinking mach a holy place the properest for such a holy exercise, though it were the hour of prayer, though it were in the street the hour of prayer, though it were in the street the hour of prayer, though it were in the street the hour of prayer, though it were in the street the hour of prayer, though it was thet out. performed there in their private persons only; but if they had not leisure to go to such a holy place, then they proped wherever they were at the hour of prayer, though it were in the street or markelplacs. And for this it was that our Savinour found fault with thom, when he told them, Mat. 6. 5, that they loved to pray standing in the synagogues, and in the corners of the streets, thereby affecting more to be seen of men, than to be accepted of by God. But many of them had upper rooms in their houses, which were as chapels, perticularly set apart, and consecrated for this purpose. In such an one Cornelius was praying at the ninth hour of the day, that is, at the time of the evening secrifice, when the angel appeared unto him, Acts 10. 30. Indi such an one Peter was their, their is, at half an hour past twelve or thereabout; for them he had the vision of the great their, their is, at half an hour past twelve or thereabout; for them he apostles assembled together in prayer, when the Holy Ghost descended upon them, Acts 1 13.

The synagogue was the ark or chest, wherein lay the hole of the law, that is, the Pentaeuch, or five books of Moses. This chest, they say, was made after the model of the ark of the coreaned, and always placed in that year of the synagogue which looked towards the 1101 land, if the synagogue mass out of it; but if it was within it, then the chest was placed

These Elders are with their backs sowards the forementioned at with their backs sowards the forementioned chest, and their faces towards the congregation, who looked towards the ark. These seats of the Elders are those which are called in Mat. 23. Editers are those which are called in Mal. 23. 6, the chie seats, and which our Saviour ordered his disciples not to contend for, or affect, as the Pharisees did. The women were therein distinct from the men, and scated in a gallery inclosed with lattices, so that they might see and hear, but not be seen.

suctioned with lattices, so that they might see and hear, but wo be seen. To regulate and take care of all things belonging to the synagogue service, there was appointed a conneil, or assembly of grape and wise persons, well versed in the law, over whom we set a president, who is culted the rules of the synagogue, Luke 8. 41. He presided in the assemblies, and in yidicial affairs that we seemblies, and in yidicial affairs that we sometimes decided there, against those who had given any reandal, and transgressed the law in any important matter. As for socurging, some are of opinion, that it was a pruishment not falling wader the jurisdiction of the rulers of the synagogues, but belonging to the civil contri, which they take to be meant by the synagogues, where our Saviour tolls his disciples they should be scourged, Mal. 10. 17. Others on the contrary, maintain, that by the word synagogues is the place here quoted, we are to understand synagogues properly to celled. As to the manner of scourging, see Scourge. her of scourging, see Scourge.

he same presidents invited those to speak in the synapogue, whom they thought capable of it, and offered that homour to strangers, if there were any that seemed to have the gift of speaking. St. Paul being at Antioch of Pissdia, was invited by the rulers of the synapogue to make a discourse to them for their edification, Acts 15. 14, 15. Ind it is very probable, that whenever our Saviour preached in the synapogues it was not without the permission of the president, or chief ruler, though it be not expressly said so in the gospel, because it was a thour custom.

was a known custom. The rulers of the synagogue were likevise bound to take care of the poor. There were in every synagogue two treasury chests, one for poor strangers, and the other for their own poor. Those who were cheritably inclined, put their alms into these chests at their coming into the synagogue to pray. Upon estreordinary occasions they sometimes made public collections; in which cases, the rulers of the synagogue ordered the person whose business it was to collect the alms, to ask every body for the charity. Every one promised according as he was disposed, and afterwards they gathered from house to bossee what had been promised, for the Jews meddled not with money on their subbath-day.

SYNAGOGUE.

SYNAGOGUE.

In Greek συκόγουγη, of συκόγου to gather together, signifies an assembly, as in Rev. 2.

9.13. 9. where St. John calls the false and hypocritical professors in Smyrna and Philadelphia, the synagogue of Satan, a congregation or assembly of men, who worship and serve the devil by street and profameness, and yet presented they are the only true church of God. But most commonly the word synagogue is used to denote the place where the Jews assembled to pray, to read, and to hear the reading of the holy books, and other instructions. It is often mentioned in the Gospels and the Acta because Christ and his apostles generally went to preach in the synagogues.

Authors are not agreed about the time when the minitioned in the Gospuls and the Acts because Christ and his apostle generally went to preach in the synagogues. Surfors are not agreed about the time when the Jews first began to have synagogues: Some will have it that they are at ancient at the ceremonial law. It cannot be denied, say they, that the Jews did worship God publicly every sabbath, and on other holy occasions, oven then when they neither did, nor could go up to Jerusalem; it is therefore very presumable that both conscience and prudence did direct themto appoint convenient places for that purpose. Some Joetsteps of them were to be seen to early as in the time of Elisha. Denous persons, in the time of this prophet assembled themselves to him on the subbath day, to hear the law read to them, 2 Kings 4, 23. And the author of Pash. 14th, describing the havoc that the army of Nebuchadnesser had made in Jerusalem, says, they have burned up all the synagogues of God in the land, pral. 74.8. On the contrary, many learned men have thought them of but a late institution. Dr. Prideaus affirms, that they had no synagogues before the Bubylonish captivity, for the main service of the synagogue, says he, being the reading of the law was through all Judea before the Babylonish captivity, many tests of scripture tell us. When Jehoshaphat sent teachers through all Judea, to instruct the people in the law of God, they carried a book of the law with them, 2 Chron. 17. O. which they meeded not have done, if there had heen any copies of the law in these cities to which they meeded not have done, if there had heen any copies of the man it them. Their behaviour on that occasion sufficiently proves, they had never een it before, which could not be the case, had there then been any other copies of it to be found among the people. And if there were no copies of the law at that time among them, there could then be most certaintly no synagogues for them to resert to, for the hearing of it read wate them. From whence he concludes, there could be no synagogues mong the Jews, till after the Behylonish captivity, and so surrough and to the Earliest Continue, how it came to pass that the Jews were so prome to idoletry before the Babylonish captivity, and so extrengly and countinuity, even to superstition, fixed against it after that captivity, the true reason hereof will appear to be, that they had the law and the prophets serry week constantly read wate them after that captivity, which they had not before. the true reason hereof will appear to be, that they had the law and the prophets cory week constantly read unto them after that captivity, which they had not before. For before that captivity, they having no synagogues for public worship, or public instruction, nor any places to resert to for either, undess the temple at Isra-alem, or the cities of the Lavites, or to the prophets, when God was pleased to enter me mong them, for went hereof great ignorance gram among them, for went hereof great ignorance gram among the people: God was little known among them, and his laws in a manner wholly fregotien. And therefore as occasion offered, they were easily drawn into all the superstitions and idelatrous wages of the neighbouring nations; till at length, for the pusishment hereof, God gave them up to a dismal destruction in the Bebylonish captivity: But after that captivity, and the return of the Jose from it, synagogues being erected among them in every city, to which they constantly resorted for public worship, and where every week they had the law then they constantly atorted for public worship, and where every week they had the law from the first, and after that from the time of Antiochus' persecution, the prophets also read unto them, and were by sermons and exhortations: there delivered, at least every abbath, instructed in their duty, and excited to the obdience of it: This keys them in a thorough knowledge of God and his laws. And the threats they found in the prophets egainst the breakers of them, after the law of Moses was never more strictly observed by them than from the time of Exra the law of Moses was never more strictly observed by them than from the time of Exra (when synagogues first came into use among them) to the time of our Saviens; and they not overdone it, by adding corrupt traditions of their own devicing, whereby, at length, they mod the law itself of none effect, as our Saviens charges them, Mat, 15.6.

As to Psal. 74. 8, They have burned up all the synagogues of God in the land; In the original, Col moadhe El, that is, all the assemblies of God, by which, says Dr. Prideaux, I acknowledge must be understood the places where the people did assemble to worship God. But this doth not infor, that those places were synagogues; and there are none of the ancient versions, excepting that of Aquila, that so render this passage. The chief place where the Israelites assembled for the worship of God, was the temple at Jeruselem, and before that was built, the tabernacie; and the open court before the alter was that pert, in both of them, where the people assembled to offer up their prayers unto God. But those that lived at a distance from the tabernacie, while that war in being, and after-But those that lived at a distance from the tabernacle, while that was in being, and afterwards from the temple, when that was built, not being able at all times to resort thinker, they built counts, like those in which they prayed at the tabernacle and at the temple, therein to offer up their prayers unto God, which in aftertimes we find called by the name of proseculum. Into one of them our Seviour is said to have gone to pray, and to have continued therein a whole night, Luke 6. 12. As the synagogue-tervice was to be on three has every week, for the take of hearing the last; it was to be thrice on those days, for the an of their prayers. For it was a countens rule mong them, that all were to pray must God three times of the morning sacrifice; and in the soning, at the morning sacrifice; and in the soning, at the time of the vening sacrifice; and in the soning, at the time of the vening sacrifice; and in the soning, actifice was still left barning up ple the steady practice of good and retigious persons, to ofer up their prayers to God threa every day. This we find David did. Pal. 50.

17, Evening, morning, and at noon, will I pray. And Daniel, notwithstanding the heart of the countray, says, that he kneed upon his knees three times a day, and prayel, and gave thanks unto his God, Den. 6. 10. By which it is implied, that he did not only in that time thus pray, but that it was always he that time thus pray, but that it was always to constant custom to do.

When synagogues were erected among the Jon, the hours of public devotion in them as their synagogue days, were, as to morning and evening prayers; the tame hours in which the marning and evening sacrifices were offered up at the temple. And the same hours in which the marning and evening sacrifices were offered up at intertuct on purpose to offer up unto God the prayers of the popple, who were that without, praying unto him. Is a tree called the Egyptian Ag-tree; its name is composed of sycos, a Ag-tree, and moros, a mulberry-tree. It partakes of the matter of each of these trees; of the mulberry-tree in its leaves, and of the Ag-tree in its fruit, which is pretty like a Ag in its shape and bigness. This fruit grown meather in clusters, nor at the ends of the branches, but sticking to the tronk of the tree. Its taste is pretty much like a wild fig. Amos says, I was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's soo, but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of sweemore-fruit, or wild his. Amos agatherer of sweemore-fruit, or wild his. Amos prophet's son, but I was an herdman, and a gatherer of sycamore-fruit, or wild fie, Amos 7. 14. Pliny and other naturalists observe, that this fruit does not grow ripe till it is rubbed with iron combs, after which rubbing it ripens in four days. And Jarom upon Amos asys, that without this management the figs cannot be eaten, because of their intolerable bitterness.

It is said, they had the fieth of this animal in such detestation, that they would not to much as pronounce its name, but instead of it said, That heast, That thing. In 2 Macc. 6. 18. 4c when old Eleasar was taken by the servants of Antiochus Epiphanes, he was vehemently wiged to taste winnes fieth, or at least to pretend to taste it. They opened his mouth by force, to compel him to eat of it; but he chose rather to rufer death than to break the law of God, and so give offence to the weaker people of his nation, 3050

Porphyry afirms, that the Hobrews and Phe-nicians obstained from ports, because there was none in their country. He might rather have said, there was most, or but very little, besaid, there was mone, or but very little, he-cause they bred no hogs, by reason of that ab-horence they had conceived for them: For it is certain they might have had them if they had pleased; and that there were herds of swime in our Saviour's time, is evident from Mat. 8. 30, 31, Mark 5. 11.

sense, as may be seen from Tertullian, Eusebius, Chrysotom, Basil, Jerom, 4c. However, it is acknowledged, that neither the Apostles, or Festhers have absolutely condemned swearing, the stars for a about go condemned swearing, or the use of oaths upon every occasion, and all subjects. There are circumstances wherein we never ought to sweax but upon urgent necessity, and to do some considerable good by it.
That a person sweax lawfully, he must have a

SURETY
Is one who undertakes to was anather.

Is one who undertakes to pay another man's debt, in case the principal debtor, either through unfaithfulness or payerty should prove insolvent. It was an ancient custom in suretiship porthe surety to give his hand to, or strike hands with the creditor, thereby obliging himself to the payment of the present debtor. Thus it is said in 100 17. 3, Who is he that will strike hands with me? And in Prov. 6. 1, 2, My son, if thou be sweety for thy friend; if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger; thou hart snared with the words of thy mouth. Solomon in this passage does not condemn suretishly, which in some cases is not only lawful, but even as an act of justice, of prudence, but even tiship, which in some cases is not only lawful, but even as an act of justice, of prudence, and charity; thus Judah became surety to his father for his brother Benjamin, Gen. 42. 37, [44. 32, and Paul to Philemon for Onesimut, Philem. 8. 19. Solomon only forbids his disciple to become surety rashly, without considering for whom, or how far he does oblige himself, or how he could discharge the debt, if occasion should require it.

In 11eb. 7. 22. Jesus Christ is called the envelop oblige himself, or how he could discharge the debt, if occasion should require it.

In 11eb. 7.22. Jesus Christ is called the surety of a better testament. Sins are by analogy called debts: For as a debt obliges the debtor to payment, so sin doth the sinner to punishment. Christ, according to the covenant of redemption, or agreement between the Father and him, interposed as our wivery; and entering into this relation, he sustained the persons of sinners (for in the estimate of the law, the Surety and debtor are but one person) and being judicially one with them, according to the order of justice, he was liable to their punishment. For though the displacaves of God was primarily and directly against the sinner, yet the effects of it fell upon Christ, who undertook for him. And according to this undertaking, Christ as our surety, fulfilled the preceptive part of the moral law, by the innocency and holiness of his life; and he underwens the penalty of the law when he offered up himself a sacrifice to satisfy divine justice, and hereconcile us to God And in convenience of penalty of the law when he offered up him-telf a secrifice to satisfy divine partice, and reconcile us to God. And in consequence of the atonement made by this secrifice, the Holy Spith is given, to enable man to perform what is required of him in the gospel; namely, to repent, to believe, and obey the Redomer. wholly to rely upon his nacrificer for obtained the favour of God; and Christe, by his recession, secures to believers all the bizzon God; coopant fo. time and esternation which the Pielmist alludes, Prad. 11, Be surety for thy servant for good; 10, undertake and plead my cause against miss enemist, as a survey recuest the posteroid debtor from the hands of a server increditus creditor.

the people of the East. It is thought to be 2 Sam. 12, 12, but I will do this to the sun that the Phenicians worshipped under the name of Baal, the Moabites under the name 23, 4, as the light of morning wh the sun that the Provincian worthipped under the name of Baal, the Monhites winder the name of Chemosh, the Almmenites by that of Mo-och, and the Israelites by the name of Baal, and by the king of the host of heaven. They did not separate his worship from that of the moon, whom they called Astarta, and the queen of heaven. They paid this worship upon high places, in groves, and upon the roof, of their houses. The Israelites had a causism against this worship. Deut, 4, 15, 19, Take they therefore good heed unto yourselves,— lest thou lift up thins eyes unto heaven and when thou sees, the row, and the moon, and the stars, even all the host of heaven, shouldst be driven to worship them, and serve them, which the Lord thy God hath divided unto all nations under the whole beaven. And in Deut. 17, 3, 4, 5, rach are condemned to death, as shall be percerted to the worship of strange all mations unever the winds baseds. Sind in Deut. 17. 3, 4, 5, such are condemned to death, as shall be percented to the worship of strange gods, of the sun, or of the moon. Joint King of Judah took away out of the temple of the Lord, the horses, and burnt the chariots, that the kings his predecessors had consecrated to the sun, 2 Kings 23. 11. Job says, that he looked upon it as a very great crime, and as renouncing the God that is above, to his his hand as a token of advention, when he saw the sun in all its glory and splendour. Job 31. 26, 27, 28. Excited saw in the Spirit, in the temple of the Lord, five and wrenty men of Judah, who turned their backs upon the sanctuary, and had their faces towards the East, worshipping the sun at his rising, Ewek. 8. 16.

npon the sanctuary, and had their faces the rate the East, norshipping the sun at his rising, Enek. 8. 16.

The sun is frequently alluded to in a great part of the noble similitudes that the sacred authors make use of. To represent a very great calamity, they say, the sam was obscured, and the moon withdrew her light, Isa. 13. 10. 124.23.

Jer. 15. 9. Exak. 32. 7. Ames 8. 9. STUDS, STUDS,
STUDY.

The chief study of the Hebrew was always the lew of the Lord. The practice of this is recommended throughout the whole Old Testament.

Moses commanded, that the law of the Lord should always be in their mouths day and night; that it should be as a memorial before their eyes, and a signed in their hearts; that they should alway to no their hearts; that they should teach it their children; that they should alway and always middle such it their children; that they should always middle woo it, whether sitting in their always middle woo it. shedd teach it their children: that they should always mediates upon it, whather sitting in their houses, walking in the fields, in the night time, while they slept, and when they awoke in the morning; that they should wear it as a brace-let to their arm, and write it upon their door-posts. This was the study of the prophets, the pertiarch, and all good Israelites, Exod. 13. 9. Dent. 6, 7.

himself with so much care to smoled the mean-ing of his own revelations, and of those of the prophet Jeremiah, who fixed the time for the completing the captivity of the people of God, Dan. 7, 28, [9, 2, 3, 2, 23, 3, 24, ...] of the Apostele Peter informs us, what was the study of the prophets. They searched what times and what other circumstances the Spirit of Christ, who poke in them had marked out, when they predicted the sufferings of our Saviour, and the glory that was to follow, 1 Pet. 1. 11.

predicted the sufferings of our Saviour, and the glovy that was to follow, I Pet, I. II. Ifter the conquests of Alexander the Great, the Jews, who were mingled with the Grecians, in the greatest part of the provinces of the East, began to have a taste for their language and their studies. In imitation of the Grecian philosophers, they divided themselves into differ-ent sects. Some of them, as the Pharisees sects. Some of them, as the Pharisees, used some of the opinions of the Stoics and esponsed some of the opinions of the Stoics and Platonicians; others, as the Sadducees, em-braced some of the notions of the Epicureans; others, as the Essenians, says Philo, had a contempt for logic, physics, and metaphysics; which they thought useless, and matter of mere curiosity. They only applied themselves to morality and the laws of viod, which they ex-plained after a rublime and allegorical manner. Platonicians; names. In our Sacious's time it appears, that the main study of the Jewish doctors was chiefly the traditions of their fathers. Christ upbraids them frequently with having forsaken the law of God and its true meaning, to accribe meanings and applications to it, contrary to the sense of the lew and the intention of the lawgiver. St. Paul, who had been bred up in these principles, thene also the absurding of them, in his Epistles, always calling back the laws to their original and to their true sense. But all this was not able to cure the spirit of the Jews upon this article; at this day they are more bigotted to their traditions than aver, and they make them the greatest part of their study.

Were a sort of heathen philosophers, who took their name from the Greek word Zroù, sig nifying a porch or entry, because Zeno, the head of the Stoics, kept his school in a porch of the city of Athens. They held, that a wise man ought to be free from all passions, never to be moved either with joy or grief, esteeming all things to be ordered by an inevitable necessity and fate. Josephus says, that the Pharisecs approach very near to the sentiments of the Stoics. They affected the same stiffness, patience, apathy, austerity, and insensibility. The sect of the Stoics was still considerable at Athens, when St. Paul came thither, since he had conferences with them, Acts 17.18.

STONE

A mineral well known, of which there are diversely with the precious stones, or gam, of which mention is made in Scripture, all these cam be found concerning them in the Commentators, is not much to be relied on, since neither the Jown, nor some the ancient Greek Interpreters, seem to have had a sufficient knowledge of the proper signification of the original terms.

he most here were the head-stone of the corner, Psal. 118. 22. This is that which is put as the angle of a building, whether at the foundation, or at the top of the wall. Jeans Christ is that corner-stone which was rejected by the Jews, but is become the corner-stone of the church, and the stone that binds and writes the Jews and Gentiles in the union of the same faith, Mat. 21. 42. Eph. 2. 15, 20. And as corner-stones and foundation-stones in buildings was to be chosen with care, and to be thoroughly examined by the builder; we The cor And as corner-stones and foundation-stones in buildings use to be chosen with care, and to be thoroughly examined by the builder; so Christ is called a tried stone, a sure foundation. Is 28. 16, I lay in Zion, a tried stone, a sure foundation. I have tried, I have approved of him as every way sufficient to be the foundation and head of the church. And because this stone is not set up by man, but sent by God, therefore he is said to be cut out of the mountain without hands, Dan. 2. 45. And because unbelievers refuse to be laid upon this stone and so perish, therefore it is called a stone of stumbling, a rock of offence, that is, an occasion of sin and ruin, at whom they will take offence and stumble, so as to fall and be broken, Isa. B. 14, 15. 1 Pet. 2. B. This was accomplished at the coming of the Messiah, whom the Jews rejected to their own destruction, as not answering their carnal expectations, not mixing with their way of building: that is, not to be made use of for promoting and carrying on their worldly projects and interest. Christ is likewise called a precious stone, because he was chosen, an elect stone, foundation of the world, I Pet. 1, 20, 2, 4, 6. Ils is likewise termed a living stone, I Pet. 2. Zech. 3. 9, to note that the Messiah should be endued with perfect windom and knowledge, to order all things in the church, to wait hope oper it, and to take care of all the concern to order all littles in the entity, in mental the concerne thereof.

At Christ the Head is called a stone, so also his members, true believers, who are built upon, and derive spiritual life from the foundation, Christ, are called stones. 1 Pet. 2. 5, Ye also as lively stones are built up a spiritual house. At the law was engraven on two tables of stones, so believers have the law written in their hearts. They are stones for their consteney, strength, and usmoroableness in all the storm: of life. They are stones for continuance and durableness. As stones are dug out of a quarry, so believers are selected and chosen from the rest of mankind. They are woised with Christ and true Christians in one body; like the stones of a house, compact among themselvis, and upon the foundatiom.

millstone, Job 41. 24. That is, he is of a stone, yea, as hard as a piece of the nether millstone, Job 41. 24. That is, he is of a stone, after is said, 1 Sam. 25. 37. that Nabal's heart died within him, and he became as stone, when he was told of the danger he had incurred by his imprudence. His heart became immovable like a stone, it was contracted, or convulsed, and this convulsion was the occasion of his death. Esskiel says, that the Lord will take away from his people their heart of stone, and give them a heart of flesh, Essk.
36. 26. that he will take swey the stubborn senseless, and untractable disposition of the beart, that receives no hindly impressions from 30. 36, that he will take away the stubborn senseless, and untractable disposition of the heart, that receives no kindly impressions from the word, providence, or Spirit of God in his ordinary operations and influences, that hardensitelf in a day of provocation, that is hardened by the decesifulness of sin; he will take this away, and give a tender, tractable temper and disposition. Much to the same sense is that what Which John the Baptist said, Mat. 3. 9, that God is able to raise up children unto Abraham even of stones; that is, from among the heathen; or even of the stones of the desert, God was able to raise up a spiritual seed to Abraham. sert, God was art, Cos will not return by a spiritual seas to Abraham.

A stone is sumetimes put for an idol of stone, Hab. 2. 19, Woe unto him that saith to the wood, awake, and to the dumb stone, arise it shall teach. Hersekiah in his prayer says, The kings of Assyria have cast the gods of the nations into the fire; for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and stone, Isa. 37, 19. And in Jer. 2. 27. Saying to a stock, thou art my father, and to a stone, thou hast brought me forth. To be reduced to an heap of stones, if said of a city or house which is entirely runned and demolithed. Mic. 1. 6, I will make Samaria as an heap of the field, and as the plantings of a vineyard. So in Isa. 17. 1. Damascus is taken from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap. Thus also our Saxiour, speaking of the destruction of Jerusalem, says, that one stone shall not remain upon another, Mat. 24. 2. Mat. 24. 2.

Mat. 24. 2.

The white stone, Rev. 2. 17. I will give him a white stone; I will give him a full and public pardon and absolution. It is spoken in alliation to an ancient custom of delivering a white stone to such as they acquitted in judgment. They used likewise to give a white stone as a reward to such as conquered in their games; such as allude to this, make this the sense; I will give him a full and ample reward. Solomon says in Proverbs 20. 8, As he that bindeth a stone in a sling, so is he that giveth honour to a fool. When a stone is fastened to the sling, the slinger hunder his som design of the sling, the slinger hunder his som design of nonour to a tool. when a stone is plaintened to the sling, the slinger hinders his own design of throwing it, he losse his labour: se does the man who gives homour to a fool. But the words may be etherwise rendered, as he that putteth a precious stone in an heap of stones, where it is obscured and lost: And as this little atone does not scured and last: And as this little stone does not sugment the heap, nor is so much as seen upon it; so honour heaped upon a food, does not render him more worthy of consideration. Others translate it, to the a stone in a piece of purple, is to give honour to a fool. An enthing cam be so ill placed as a stone in a piece of fine cloth; so are honours ill placed upon a fool. Great heaps of stones, raised up for a witness of any memorable event, and to preserve the remambrance of some matter of great importance are the most ancient monuments among the Hobrews. In those elder ages, before the gray of every man borrow of his neighbour, and every woman of her neighbour, jewels of silver, and iewels of gold. And the Lord gave the peo-ple favour in the sight of the Egyptians. It sewers or gold. And the Link gave the peo-ple favour in the sight of the Egyptians. It is inquired, whether the Hebrews could lawfully borrow these things of the Egyptians, which they orrow that string; of the Egyptians, when that had no intention to restore to them again? and whether this was not to commits a manifest theft and injustice? Commentators give several answers to this question. Some say, that upon this occasion, God plainly dispensed with that law; by which he had obliged the Hebrews mpon this occasion. God plainty dispensed with that law; by which he had obliged the Ilebrews, not to commit any theft; or rather, that being the absolute Master of every thing, he transferred to the 'Ilebrews that right that he Egyptians had to these things. Others insimuate another reason, which is, that God would recompose the Ilebrews for the labours that they had suffered in Egypt, and allowed them to pay thamselves by their own hands, by detaining what they borrowed of the Egyptians. This way of paying one's self cannot be allowed regularly; but in these circumstances, having no other way of doing themselves justice, and being eartherised by the express command of God, they might have recourse to this expedient. Others look upon this, not as a theft, but as a fair booty got in a just wer. The Egyptians were enumies to the Ilebrews; they had unjustly prescured them for a long time, and took from them the means of defending themselves, and of recovering their liberty: They might therefore lawfully deprive them of their goods by a wife, and a kind of strangem, by pretending to borrow of them what they never intended to return.

one here distinguish between such Israelites who acted in the simplicity of their hearts, and sincerely obeyed the commands of God, and those that followed the motions of their one conetous desires. The first are excused from sin by the wprightness of their intentions, but not the second, who were ready enough to rob the Egyptians, if they could do it with impunity, even though God has not allowed them to borrow one thing from them.

even though God has not allowed them to borrow any thing from them.

Others observe, that the Egyptians were indebted to the Hebrews, not only for their goods, but for their lives also, because of the benefit they had received from the Patriarch Joseph, when they were under the greatest necessity.

The Israelites were unjustly oppeared by a cruel slevery in Egypt: The Egyptians exercised all kinds of violences against them, and overwhelmed them with calamities, even to the rendering their lives uneary to them. The Hebrews had built them cities, and had very much improved the riches of these inhuman masters; who, instead of acknowledging these services, intended even to take snew their lives from them. What injustice therefore could there be, if the Israelites should take again a small part of that which they had procured for the Egyptians? And if they should receive a small recompence for so many services they had done them? They came poor out of Egypt. whereas they ought to have got much riches together, if they had not been reduced into an unjust servicules. And, just as a freeman, who had been stolen away and sold for a stave, might, without injustice, set himself at liberty, and pay himself for his labour, by taking from his master a small reward for his service: So the Israelites, at their departure out of Egypt, might receive something as a recompence, since a great deal was due to them.

Among the Hebrews theft was not punished with death. Prov. 6. 30, 31. Men do not despise a thief, if he steal to satisfy his soul when he is hungry. But if he be found, he shall restore seven-fold; he shall give all the substance of his house. The law allowed the killing of a night robber, Exod. 22. 2. because it was supposed his intention was to murder as well as trobs: It condemned a common thief to make double restitution, if the beast he stole were found in his hand alwe, Exod. 22. 4. If he stole an ox and killed it, he was to restore it five-fold, if a sheep, only four-fold, Exod. 22. 1. It is thought that the theft of an ox, or of any of that kind, was punished the more secretly, because this summal is of more use then other, and likewise because it argued a greater bulkness and customarises in the thief of steal that which more easily might be discovered if the thief did not make restitution, they seized what was in his house, put it up to sele, and even sold himself, if he had not wherewithel to make satisfaction, Exod. 22. 3. the passage just quoted, Prov. 6. 3. the wiseman says, that the thief was to restore seven. winnes to make satisfaction, Exod. 22.3. In the passage just quoted, Prov. 6.3. the wise-man says, that the thirf was to restore seven-fold the value of the thing stolen. But seven-fold may here be put for many-fold, he shall make abundant satisfaction.

Though there was no penalty annexed to the law forbidding theft, except restitution; year nested away a freeman, or an Hebrew, and to reduce him to the state of servitude, was punished with death. Evod. 21. 16, He that stealeth a man and selleth him, or if he be found in his hand, he shall surely be put to death. The Jews do not think that the stealing of a mon of any other nation deserves death, but only the theft of a free Hebrew. If it he a stranger that is stelle, they were only condemned to restitution. They found this distinction upon a law in Deut. 24. 7. which limits this low concernin man-stealing: If a man be found stealing any of his brethren of the children of Israel; which exception the Septuagint and Onkelos have inserted in the test of Exod. 21. 16. This hough there was no penalty annexed to the law may of his breathern of the centuren of Israel; which acception the Septuagita and Onkelos have inserted in the text of Exod. 21. 16. Solomon says, Prov. 6.30, Men do not despise a thief, if he steal to satisfy his soul when he is hungry: The law inflicts no paculiar punishment on him, and he is not made to undergo any thameful or ignominious penalty: If he is found, he shall restore seven-fold, he shall give all the substance of his house. This is all the danger he is arround to in steeling, except he had not whereon this totale, after it are anger no is ex-pored to in steeling, except he had not where-withel to make restitution, in which case he was reduced to bondage. Many people inha-biting round about Judea, seem to have made was reasces to coneage. Many people inha-biting round short. Judea, seem to have made robbery a kind of profession. Isaac forested to Esau, that he should live by his sword, that is, that he should maintein himself by phonder-ing, Gen. 27. 40. Ishmeel, the son of Abra-ham, had no other trade than war and repine; he was a wild man and an archer, he was always at war with his neighbours: His hand will be against every man, and every man's hand against him, Gen. 16. 12. He is described as a king, taking a review of his army, and gives every one of his soldiers such a name as he thinks fit. Bildad, Job's friend, says, that in the opes of God the stars themselves are impure; that he can discern many spots and blemishes in them which we cannot see, Job 25. 5. And in chap. 9. ver. 7, it is said, that, God locks them up as with a key, and hinders them from appearing, but when he pleases. When the scripture describes a time of public calamity, of sorrows, fears, troubles, and perpendicular, it is said, the stars withhold their light, and are covered with darkness, these they fall from heaven and disappear, Essek. 32. 7. The sacred books sometimes seem to ascribe knownisse to the sun, moon, and starts: They are excited to praise the Lord, Paal. 148. 3. The moon is said to withdraw her light, Erek. 32. 7. to obey the voice of Joshua, Joth. 10. 12. But these expressions, which are mersely popular, are not to be understood literally; for then it must be taid, that the earth, the tree, and the waters are animated, there being expressions in scripture that would instinute as much. All the creatures glority God, bless the Lord, and obey him, each in its way. If any thing more be allowed to the sun, the moon, of the iters; it is because they are creatures of greater perfection, and by which the glory and majesty of God shine forth in a more eminent and conspicuous meanner.

Amon, speaking of the idolary of the Israelites in the wilderness; informs us, that they carried along with them the star of their God, Amos 5. 20. St. Stephen, in Acts 7. 43. quoting this pastage of Amos according to the Septuagini, says, Ye took up the tabernacle of Moloch, and the star of your god Remphan. This last word has given occasion to a great number of conjectures. Grotius thinks it to have been the same deity as Rimmon, en idel of the people of Damascus. Rimmon, en idel of the people of the sun. Some derive Remphan from the Hebrew word Rapha, to be negligent, soft, or slothful j' because Saturn is the slowest thirst sake it for the sun. Some derive Remphan from the Hebrew word Rapha, to be negligent, soft, or slothful; because Saturn is the slowest Reph, signifies voracity, a quality very well agreeting to Saturn, who, according to the fable, devoured his own children. Vossius believes Rephan, or, as Amos has it, Chium, was the moon. (Ithers think Remphan to be the name of a king of Egypt, who was placed by his people in the renk of the geds. Diodorus Siculus, lib. 1. page 39, says that king Remphas receeded Proteus. But this author devent and tay that he ever had been deifed, and speaks of him as a prince very unworthy of having divine homour peid to him. The opinion that is most common is, that it was a representation of the planet Saturn.

STA

There shall come a star out of Jacob, and a sceptre shall arise out of Israel, and shall smite the corners of Moab, and destroy all the children of Sheth. By this star is meant a ruler, a conqueror, a great prince, which according to some mes king David, who conquered the Moabites; but it primarily and chiefly points at Jesus Christ the Messiah, who is of the seed and posterity of Jacob, who is the true star which fills the world with its brightness, and who is called the bright and moroning star, Red. 24. 16. Some have shought, that in this place Balaam foresteld the appearance of that real war, which erose at the time of owe Savient's birth, and which guided the Magi into Judan, to see the person whose birth was declared by that star. But this star did not come out of Jacob; and that cannot be applied to this star, which is said there; which plainly points at a ruler, a king, a conqueror.

The star that appeared to the Magi, or wise-men, and conducted them to Beth-lehem, where our Stotions was born, has furnished matter for many conjectures. Some ancient authors have many conjectures. and conducted them to beth-lebem, where our Saviour was born, has furnished matter for many conjectures. Some ancient authors have asserted, that it was a new that purposely created to declare to man the birth of the Messiah. Uthers take it for a kind of comes, which appeared preternaturally in the cir. Lightloop thinks, that the same light which appeared to the shapherds near Beth-lebem, might also be visible afar off to the Magi, hanging over Judea, and so be their guide to find our Sciours. Others have pretended that it was an angel clothed with a luminous body in form of a star, which taking his course towards Judea, determined the Magi to follow him: They found their opinion upon this; that this that appeared to be rational and instelligent, appearing and disappearing, stopping, and going forward, in such menner as was necessary for the conduct of the Magi, to the proper place. It is said, that some writers believed this that was the Holy Ghost, which appeared to the Magi under the form of a star, as he appeared at the baptim of Christ under the form of a dove. Lastly, Calmet says, that this that was inflamed meteor, in the middle region of the air, which having been observed by the Magi with miraculous and extraordinary circumstances, was taken by them for the star to long foreiold by Balaam; and that afterwards they fore, them, something like the pillar of cloud in the detert. this phenomenon.
We time which the Magi took up in their journey to Judea, is a point that has much esercised the Chronologers. Those who suppose they came from the remotest part of Versia, allow them two years for their journey; supposing that the star oppeared to them two years before the birth of our Saviour. In this the test of the goppel seems something favourable to them, raying that Herod put to death the children of Beth-lehum, from two years old and under, according to the time that the Magi had shaved him, Mat. 2. 16. Others will have it, that the star did not arise till the moment of our Saviour's birth; and these are yet divided; for some think that the Magi did not arrive at Beth-lehem till two years after the birth of our Saviour. Others make them arrive there thirteen days ofter his birth; and that they might make the greater haste, they assign them Beth-lehem till two years agree our Saviour. Others make them arrive therethirteen days after his birth; and that they might make the greater hatte, they assign them dromederies to ride year. There are thought the think that the star appeared from the mother than the think that the star appeared from the mother than the star appeared from the star appeared fr enat think that the star appeared from the mo-ment of Christ's incarnation, or even from the conception of John the Baptist. But the ex-act time of their departure is not fixed; though the star agreed that the day of their arrival as Beth-lehem should be on the thirteenth day from our Dra's birth. rom our Lord's birth.

From our Lord's birth.

There are still some difficulties started, whether this Max was seen by every body, or only by the Magi. Some think that every body saw it, that all people were witnesses of this phenomenou; that seme, not knowing the mystery of it, contented themselves to wonder at it; and that it was to the Magi only that God rethat it was it is one mage only has 000 re-vealed the signification of it, and gave them an 2 Sam. 21. 20, a man of great s, with six ingers inclination to follow st. SPIRIT.
In Hebrew, Ruach; in Greek, Pneuma. In scripture the word Spirit is taken, [1] For the Huly Ghost, the third person of the huly Trinity, who inspired the prophets, animates good men, pours his grace into our hearts, imparts to us light and comfort, in whose Name we are baptized, as well as in those of the Father and Son, that enlivening Spirit who proceeds from the Father and Son, Mat. 3. 16. John 3. 8. | 15. 95. The Holy Ghost is called Spirit, being, as it were, breathed, and preceeding from the Father and Son, who inspire and move our hearts by him; or, because he breathed where he listets; stirring up spiritual motions in from the tanner and Soul, who implie and move our hearts by him; or, because he breatheth where he listeth; stirring up spiritual motions in the hearts of believers, purifying and quickening them; or because he is a spiritual, invisible, and incorporeal essence. He is called holy, both because he is most holy in himself and the Sametifier, the Worker of holiness in the creature. He is called a person, because whatsoever belongs to a person as to understand, to will, to give, to call, to do, to making of himself, doth agree to the Spirit; who appeared in a visible shape, Luke 3, 22, Acts 2, 3, gave the Apostles sundry tongues, Acts 2, 4, 8, hath power to confer and bestow on the church the gif of tongues, of mirales, of faith, of healing, of prophecy, 5c. 1 Cor. 12, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, which cannot be attributed to any quality or motion created. Lastly, he is called the third person, not in order of time, or digning of nature, but in order and manner of inbisting. of nature, but in order and manner of subsisting. of nature, but in order and manner of substitution, (2) Spirit is taken for the immediate inspiration, and extraordinary help of the Spirit of Cod. Matt. 22, 43, How then doth David in spirit call him Lord, that is, by the inspiration of the Holy Chost. 1 Cor. 14, 15, I will pray with the Spirit, that is, by the summediate of the and extraordinary help of the Spirit. This word in scripture, especially in the style of the Hebrewa, is very opusocal. It is taken, I. For that spiritual, reasonable, and immortal substance in man, which is the origin of our thoughts, of our desires, of our reasonings; which distinguishes we from the brute creation, and which bears some resemblance to its divine Maker. Mat. 10. 28, Fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body. This substance must be spiritual, because it thinks; it must be immortal, because it is spiritual. The some was be spiritual, because it thinks; it must be immortal, because it is spiritual. The scripture indeed aeribes to beast a soul, a spirit, life, and respiration, which may be a second acceptation of the word, as in Com. 1. 26, Let the earth bring forth the living creature, in Hebrew, the living soul. So in Lev. 17. 1. The life, in Hebrew, the soul of the flesh is in the blood. And in Eccl. 3. 21, Who knoweth the spirit of the boast that goeth downward? This soul is the spirit, the breath, which is the principle of animal life, and which is common to men and brutes: But the scripture allows to men alone the privileges of understanding, the knowledge of God, with the principline, and of eternal life. It only threatens men with the prinshment of another life and the pains of hell.

1. Soul is taken for the whole person, both soul and body; Give me the persons, in Hebrew, souls, and take the goods to thyself, says the king of Sodom to Abraham, Gen. 14, 21. And in Geo. 12, 5. Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's son, and all their substance that they had gathered, and the souls that they had gatered, and the souls that they had purchased, or the children that had been born to them.

nas purchases, or the children that had been hern to them.

11. It is taken for the life of man. Paal. 33. 19, To deliver the soul from death; to save them alize. And in Paal. 7.5, Let the nemry persecute my soul, and take it, let him take away my life. And often in the Paalms. V. It is taken sematimes for death, or a dead body. Num. 9.6, Some were defiled by the dead body of a man, in Hebrew, by the soul of a man. And in Num. 6.6, he shall come at no dead body, in Hebrew, dead soul. Also in Paal. 16. 10, Thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; that is thou wilt not nafer my body to continue long in the grave, or in a state of death. Sometimes it is taken for a living bedy-Paal. 105. 18, He was laid in iron, in Hebrew, his soul came into iron.

7. It is used for desire, love, inclination. Gue 23. 8, If it be your mind: in Hebrew, if it

Heb. 10.29. of how much s. panishment suppose SORROW

a. These names are not to be found in the story of the Old Testament, but are taken out of other records of the Jewn, or were known in St. Paul's time by tradition. The Persphrast Jonathan say, that they were the two some of Balanam, who accompanied him, when he went to Balak king of Moab.

These magicians urought no maken and the story of t

Balak bing of Meab.
These magicians wrought no true miracle, but only me show and appearance, which, by the permission of God, was not difficult for the devil to do, either by altering the air and the spectator's right, and by omains their rode both to look and more like serpents; or by a rudden and occret consequence of roal serpents thither, and romoving the rode. Mones however expresses himself throughout in such a meanner as might permeade one, that Pharmoh's magiciane really operated the same affects as he himself produced; so that Pharmoh and his whole owns were promoted, that the power of their magicians was spend to that of Moses, till the Egyptians, now being able to produce lice, as Moses had done, were constrained so some, that the finger of God was concerned in it. Each. B. 18, 19, Till then they had acheswideged nothing divine or supernatural in, any thing he did. And it is agreed, that magic and jugging tricks, and it agreed, that magic and jugging tricks, will angula and soverers, may sometimes invitate very nearly true miracles and the operations of the Almighty. Moses's measure of expressing himself is a great evidence of the truth of scripture story, and that it was not written by fiction and design. For if Moses had written these books to deceive the world, and te advence his own reputation, as some take the liberty to soy, it is ridiculous to think that he would have given of his works.

Damiel also speaks of magicians, and the diviners that were in Chalden under him Nobuchadmens. He names four torts of them, Dan, 2.

2 I. Chartmin, which, according to Thoodition, signifies enchanters; according to the Septuagint, ophists: according to St. Jerom, Arioloa, diviners, forense-tellers, easters of mativities. II. Asaphim. This word has a great resemblance to the Greek word sophol, wissmen. IV. Candim, or Chaldenn. This word has a great the Greek were sophol, wissmen. IV. Candim, or Chaldenn. This more than two different significations. The first intimates the Chaldenn people, whe had then boust o

God has forbidden to consult such persons upon pain of death, Lev. 20. 6. Saul did what he could to drive them out of the country of laxael, 1 Sam. 28. 3. But, for all this, many were still to be found; and the country of laxael, 1 Sam. 28. 3. But, for all this, many were still to be found; and the strength of the same prince who had been to eager in driving them out of his dominants, at last went to countle one himself, 1 Sam. 28. 7, 8, &c. The Apostle in 2 Cor. 7. 10. distinguisher in mournings.

The Apostle in 2 Cor. 7. 10. distinguisher to The Apostle in 2 Cox. 7. 10. distinguishes to sorts of sorrow, one a godly, and the other worldly sorrow. Godly sorrow is that while surought in the soul by the Sprint of Go which evises from a sente of sin; the row; it is a love to God, and the manner of it me as was agreeable to the will of God. The Apostle in the following verse makes it appears that this sorrow of the Corinthians was godly by the excellent ruits and affects of us. In hold, says he, what carefulness it wrongle is you to amend what had been amiss? What clear word or the of vorneylves. Yen threat that me die me of the or of the stand of the mental what the you to amend what not seen mouse: we are true ing of yourselves. You shewed that you did no approve of the fault of other members of you charch. Yes, what indignation? namely, ogosm. charch. Yen, what indignation? namely, egona-the offender, and yourselves for your neglect Yen, what feat? namely, of drivine rengence if you should persist in that neglect, or of trans-gressing again. Yen, what whement desire To take away the scandal, and to give erry good men satisfaction. Yen, what neal? For the glory of God, and to perform what I had commanded in my former highest concerning the incessment person. He adds, yen, what ro-venge it wrought in you against the offender, is punishing of him?

punishing of him? fordly sorrow is a sorrow accasioned by worldly groubles, and curnel considerations, which, tak Apostle says, worketh death; while men har down under their burdens, and through impactioned destroy themselves, as Ahithophel, John, de. Or when men fix their thoughts upon sad objects, and so afflict themselves with them, they fing themselves into diseases which is the death.

soothesa this witheren grass Soothesa this word from Hannan, which signifies a cloud; because this kind of diviners raised their conjectures from the various figures and motions of the clouds and sty; or from the flight and chattering of birds and forth in the air. Others derive the word from Hanjin, an eye, to signify astrologers, who forceed future contingent thing; by the superstitious observation of the stars and plauses. Others think, that the word signifies such magicians, who, by playing hocuprocus tricks, endeavour thereby to impose upon the eyes and understanding of the spectators: making things, by their magical skill, appear otherwise than in truth they are. Others again understand by it such as give answers to those that repair to them for advice and direction in their affairs, deriving it from a word that that repair to them for advice and direction in their affairs, deriving it from a word that signifies to answer. Lastly, some suppose at may be derived from a word which signifies a settlime, and by it understand such as observed days and times, as good or bad, lucky or wa-lacky; such as those that did cast lots before Haman, buth. 3.7.

SONG.

Fo find in Scripture several songs composed upon important occasions; for example, Moses made one after the passage through the Red sea, to thank God for the deliverance of his people, and celebrate the greatness of this miracle, Exod. 15. 1, 2, &c. David composed a mournful song upon the death of Saul and Jonathan, and another upon the death of Abner, 2 Sam. 1. 18, 19, 13. 33. Jeremiah urote his Lamertations, which are a song, wherein he deplores the calemities and ruin of Jerusalem; and he made another upon the death of Josiah king of Judah, 2 Chrou, 35. 25. Deborah and Barak made a triumphant hymn after the defeat of Sisera, Judg. SONG We find in Scripture several songs con

This name is given to a male child considered in the relation he bears to his parents. Seth was the son of Adam, and Enos was son to Seth, Gen. 4. 25, 26. It is given also to a grandson; Mephibosheth is called the son of Saul, 2 Sam. 19. 24. though he was the son of Jonn. than, who was Saul's son, 2 Sam. 9. 6. It is put for a successor, or the descendant of a man. I am the son of the wise, the son of ancient kings, Isa. 19. 11. Thus the posterity of Jacob are called frequently the children of Israel. Son is a name given by masters and reachers to their scholars; Eli called Samuel his son, 1 Sam. 3. 6. And Solomon frequently calls his speji son, Prov. 1. 8. And this same they gave them to shew their paternal authority and affection, and to make them more attentive and obedient. St. Paul calls Timothy his own son. 1 Tim. 1. 2, To Timothy my own son in the faith; who truly resembles me, and has been confirmed in the faith by my means. Obed is called the son of Naomi. Ruth 4. 17. There is a son born to Naomi; one who will nowrith, comfort, and assist her, as a dutiful son succurst his parents. Ilazael calls Benhadal Elisha's son, one that honoured him as a sm does his father, 2 Kings 8. 9. God calls the posterity of Jacob his son. Exod. 4. 22, Israel is my son even my first-horn. They are the first and only nation that I have chosen for my preculiar people. Exchiel is called Son of man about eighty-nine times: And Christ about eighty times in the Evangeliste.

SMOKE the black exhalation which ascends from the black eshalation which ascends from fire. Gen. 19.28, The smoke of the city went up as the smoke of a furnace. Solomon observer, that as smoke is huriful and offensive to the aget, so it a singeith messenger unnerviceable and verations to them that send him, Prov. 10. 26. The anger and wrath of God are signified by smoke. Psal. 18. 8, There went up a smoke out of his nostrils: God manifested his great displeasure against my adversaries. It is spoken after the manner of men; it being usual for persons transported with great anger to their their rage by their breathing. Smoke to their rage by their breathing. Smoke denotes a grievous judgment or calamity; either because imode is generally accompanied with fire, or because it causeth a great darkness in the air. In. 14. 31. There shall come from the north a smoke. To create a cloud and smoke upon Mount Zion, denotes that God would not only direct his people, as he did the lataelites by a pillar of cloud, but that he would also be their protector and their glory, 112. 4, 5. The smoking flax shall he not guench. Les AC.

3. Mat. 12. 20. Christ will not deal roughly and rigrously with those that come to him, one and rigrously with thuse that come to him, but will use all gentleness and kindness to them, paining by their greatest sins, bearing with their present infirmities, cherishing and encouraging the smallest beginnings of grace; and conforting and healing wounded consciences. In the Revelation, the perpetuity and sternity of the torments of the damned, is thus expressed. The smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever, Rev. 14, 11

This name has much the same latitude as that of brother. It is used, not only for sister by father and mother, but also for her who is a sister only by father or mother, or is only a near relation. Thus Sarah is called sister to Abraral time. only by fairer or mother, or is only a near relation. Thus Sarah is celled sister to Abraham, though the was only his nicca according to some, or his sister by the father's side only, according to othert, Gen. 12. 13. | 20. 12. In the gospel, the brothers and sisters of Jesus Christ are no other than his cousins, the sons and daughters of the sister of the Virgin Mary, Mat. 13. 50. Mark 6. 3. In Lev. 18. 18. is is forbidden to take a wife to her sister; that is, according to some, to marry two sisters, or, according to the generality of interpreters, to marry a second wife when one has one before; so that this passage forbids polygamy. Sometimes the word sister thems a resemblance of conditions and inclinations. The prophetical Jerusalem the sister of Sodom and Samaria, because it delighted in the instation of their idolatry and iniquity, Jer. 3. 8, 10. Exek. 16. 46.

Exek. 10. 40.

n the Song of Solomon, the name of sister given to the spouse, is a name of tenderness, love, and affection, and shows the great offection which Christ has for his church, which jection which Units has jor his chiefen, which commot be inflictently expressed by any one rela-tion, but must borrow the perfections and affec-tions of all, to describe it: this name may like-wise show that Christ and his church have but wise show that Christ and his church have but one Father, to wit, God, so that the church is every way royal; the daughter of a king, the sister of a king, Cant. 4. 9, 10, 12. In Cant. 8. 8. the spouse speaking to her beloved, says, We have a little sister, and she hath no breasts, what shall we do for our sister in the day when she shall be spoken for? The be-lievers of the Jewish church, who here consult with Christ, as it were, tell him that they had little sister, meaning the Gentile church, which as yet was not time for marriage with Christ; as yet was not ripe for marriage with Christ; how shall we promote their conversion, say they, when the tenders of reconciliation are made to them?

Our Lord Jesus Christ says, Mat. 12. 50, Whosoever shall do the will of my Father who is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother: that is, Whosoever shall give real evidence of true faith by smeere obedience, shall be as dear to me at my nearest natural relation; jor, as the nearest relations are to any person. Job, in his affictions, exclaims, I have said to the worm, thou art my mother, and my sister; thou art near akin to me, we are of the same original, and thou art continually with me, Job 17. 14. The wise men advises his pupil to say to Wisdom, thou art my sister; that is, acquaint and delight thyself

Or Sincerity. This word properly signifies truth and uprightness, when the haart and tongue agree together. Sincerity is opposed to doublemindedness or deceit, when the sentiments of the heart are contrary to the language of the month. The Latin word, sincerus, is derived 'rom sine and cera, without war, honey separated from the war, or pure honey. In the scripture sincere signifies pure, or without misture, 1 Pet. 2. 1. Desire the sincere milk of the word; that it, unmired with errors, traditions, and heresies, free from deceits. St.
Paul would have the Philippians to be pure, im partial, and unbiusted in their choice; that the behaviour may be innocent, and give no offence to any body, Phil. 1. 10. that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of a fust sentence upon the guilty, for that all have sinced. Job describes this sin, Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? not one, Job 14. 4. It is the universal law of nature, that ry thing produces its like, not only in regard every thing produces its like, not only in regard of the same nature, that is propagated from one individual to another, mithout a change of the species, but in respect of the qualities with which that nature is eminently affected. The Palmist David likewise speaks of this sin, P.ad. 51. 5, Behold, I was shapen in iniquity, and in sin did my mother conceive me. The sin against the Holy Ghost. Our Saviour says in Mat. 12. 31, 32, Wherefore I say unto you, All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men, but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men. And whoever shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him: but whosever speaketh against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him: his world, neither in the world to come. Interpreters soever speaketh against the 1101y cruoss, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come. Interpreter have differently explained the sin against the Holy Ghost. St. Ambrose in one place makes it to consist in denying the deity of the Son: In another place he taus, it consists in denying the divinity of the Holy Ghost, and in imputing his works to the poner of the devil: Indi his book of Repentance he estends it to herey and schimm. Hermas say, that the sin against the Holy Ghost is the blapheming of God; and another author says, that it is the renouncing of God Others think the irremissible sun, to be that of a hardened, impenient, and inso that sing of God Others think the irremissible into the stant of the stant of this crime, the sin of Korah, Pharaoh, Simon Magus, Ananias, and Sapphira. shall not be forgiven him, neither in neither in the world to come.

Sapphira Sapphira. We generality of interpreters place the sink generality of interpreters place the sink against the Holy Chott, mentioned by our Saviour, in the miljul malice of those that mith stand the soidence of truth, and who will not vior, in the wilful malice of those that with stand the evidence of truth, and who will not acknowledge the miracles of Christ to be wronght by the finger of God, but maliciously, and against the conviction of their own consciences, impute them to the prince of derhass. This was certainly the crime of the Pharisees, to whom Christ applied his discourse; and those also become guilty of the same crime, who oppose, or persecute the doctrine, ways, and servants of Christ, because they are spiritual, or have any thing of the Spirit apparaing in them, and that contrary to their own convictions. Such as are guilty of this sin, are excepted from pardon, because the death of Christ was not appointed for the espiation of it: And there being no sacrifice, there can be no satisfaction, and consequently no pardon. For if we wilfully sin after we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remained no more sacrifice for sins, Heb. 10.26, 27, &c. The wisdom and fustice of God require this security against such sinners: For if he that despised Moses' law, died without mercy, of how much sorer punishment shall he be thought worthy, who hash trodden under foot the Son of God, and hat counted the blood of the covenant wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite to the Son if of grace! that panisament sami he be throught worth, who is hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite to the Spirit of grace! that is, They renownce their Redeemer as if he were most the Son of God, and virtually consent to the cruel centence passed against him, as if he had blesphemed when he declared himself to be so: and thereby out-sin his sufferings. How reasonable is it therefore that they should be for ever deprived of the benefits, who obstinately reject that means that purchased them. The same I apostle speaks also of this sin in 11eb. 6. 4, 5, 6, For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Ghost and the powers of the world to come, if they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance: seeing they crucify to themselves I the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame: that is, Such as have attained to some acquaintence with the decrine of the gouper and efficacy of the Holy Ghost from heavenin gestel administrations and worthin; yea, even some of the extraordinary gifts of the Spirit; who have likewise reliched comfort and sucentess in the doctrine and promises of the goopel; and porticularly having heard that the Redeemer you have heaven from wrath, and insteates them in happiness beyond what is attainable here on earth; their self-love has externally closed with the revelation, and made application of it to inself: Now, says the Apostle, if such shall turn 540

Apostates, it is impusible, in regard of any law, rule, or constitution of God, to bring them to repentance, whereby they should be restored to their former condition; and this because they desprise the means of salvation, they show themselves to be of the same opinion with those that did crucify Chrish, and they would do it again, were it in their power; and actually do it as much as they can by persecuting his members. The great supardonable sin against the Holy Ghost, appears to be a presumptume sin against some more than ordinary illuminations, countrions, and taste of gospel grace, thereby a mentions, and taste of gospel grace, thereby a men tions, and taste of gospel grace, whereby a man doth knowingly and study usly rebel against the truth, and maliciously persecute it in Aimself and others from an universal hatred of it for itself, Mat. 12, 31, 32.
